WRECK INQUIRY CONDUCTED HERE BY SUPT. EGAN

He Has Been at Scene of the White Plains Smash-up Investigating Case.

More Victims Brought to I. C.
Hospital.

THE HUFFTON TRACTION CASE.

Investigation of the cause of the freight wreck into which the first passenger engine crashed early yesterday morning at White Plains will be made tonight. Superintendent A. H. Egan will arrive in the city this evening from the scene of the wreck, and will immediately begin the investigation. Part of the evidence of the wreck of the passenger train was taken yesterday afternoon.

The Paducah wrecker is still at the scene of the smash-up, as it will require many hours of work to pick up the debris of the freight cars. All trains are able to pass over the track, and now the wrecking crew is picking up the wreckage. The freight engines are not damaged as badly as was thought at first. The special freight train was moving at about 15 miles an hour and freight train No. 186, about five miles an hour when the head-on collision occurred. The passenger engine crashed into the wreck while moving about ten miles an hour. Engineer Swanson is one of the most reliable on the Louisville division, and that he should strike the wreck after being given the location accurately, is accepted by the railroad men now as evidence that he was lost in the heavy fog.

Five More Victims Here.

Five more injured wreck victims were brought to Paducah last night on fast freight train No. 1-1. They were taken to the railroad hospital, and are not seriously injured, suffering from bruises and scratches. The two of injured brought in last night by Henry Glass and Charles Tanner, of Louisville, and Fred Peterson, colored, of Louisville, colored, and Fred Wells, of Central City. Both feet of Shelby Carter were amputated yesterday afternoon at the railroad hospital. Both ankles were crushed to a pulp.

Officials of the Louisville division have been on the scene of the wreck since the wreck, supervising the clearing of the track. The outcome of the investigation will be watched closely by railroad men.

Wabash Investigation.

Port Wayne, Ind., Sept. 22.—Authorities of Wells county and Wabash Valley traction officials today began an investigation to place the responsibility for the collision on the Huffton line, in which 40 persons were killed and eight injured. Frank L. Hart, superintendent of transportation, stated today that Motorman B. Chockwell, of the south bound car is probably the man who disregarded the orders.

Football Season Plans.

Plans for the football season will be discussed tonight at 8 o'clock by members of the Chess, Checker and White club, Sixth and Jefferson streets. All members of the club who intend to seek the team will be on hand and arrangements will be made for tryouts to be held as soon as weather sets in. The club will have a strong team this year. It is believed as it is composed of some good material. The club will also have a basketball team following the close of the football season.

END OF JOY RIDE AT A ROADHOUSE

A PROMINENT DETROIT MAN SHOTS FEMALE COMPANION— ION—SUICIDE.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 22.—A man almost positively identified as W. Yates, a prosperous business man of Detroit, hanged himself in the county jail here today, two hours after shooting his companion, Mrs. Fred Singer, 23 years old, of Cleveland, in a quarrel at White's road house on the outskirts of Cleveland. Mrs. Singer is in a critical condition. She was shot once in the back and twice in the legs. The quarrel ended an all night joy ride.

Report That Hopkinsville Game Was Thrown by Paducah Players is Subject of Quiet Investigation

Returning Team Say Two Men Did Not Try to Win—
Only Few Got Back to the Reservation.

Ugly rumors about the loss of the last game of the Kitty league season by the Indiana to Hopkinsville Tuesday, reached the city today when part of the players returned to the city. Manager Dave Anderson did not return to Paducah, and his statement of the game could not be learned. Local directors have heard nothing of when he will return, but he will be instructed to come to Paducah and make the final settlement.

It is said that the game was thrown by two of the Paducah players, but all that could be learned was mere rumors. However, the directors probably will make an investigation. Lee Hart, George Hock, Sam Warden and Jesse Gwin were the only players to return to Paducah today. Some of the other players have returned to their homes, while others have joined the Hopkinsville team for a barnstorming trip. They say it was patent that at least two of the Paducah players did not try to take the last game of the season and enable Paducah to gain second place in the percentage column.

Talk of someone having a big roll after the game is rife.

Driver Hurt in Collision.

In a collision between a large express wagon of the American Express company and the South Sixth street car at Fifth and Clark streets this morning about 11 o'clock Emerson Bennett, driver of the wagon, sustained a sprained ankle. He was carried to Riverside hospital in Nance & Rogers' ambulance.

Heads Filed.

E. W. Whittemore to W. T. Miller, property in the Murrell addition, $1.

Jesse Werten, of Pawhuska, Okla., to F. A. Rankin, property on Smithland avenue, $500.

J. D. Mockett, executor, to Mary Anderson, property on Jefferson street near Thirteenth street.

In Police Court.

Carrying concealed a deadly weapon, Will Tucker fined $50 and sentenced to 30 days in county jail. Branch of peace, "Black Cat," fined $10. Petit larceny, M. Yarn, held to answer, bond $100. Horse stealing, Craig McGee, continued to Saturday. Obtaining money by false pretenses, Craig McGee, continued to Saturday. Malicious assault with intent to kill, Sam Sasseen, continued to Saturday.

CHARLES L. ROBERTSON IS SEED FOR DIVORCE

Suit for divorce with $10,000 alimony and $100 a month maintenance pending suit, was filed today in the McCracken circuit court by Mrs. Lena Robertson against her husband, Charles L. Robertson. David Browning and S. H. Crossland for plaintiff.

—Eliza Etheridge, 702 South Seventh street, and her brother, Sam Etheridge, 1528 Jones street, who left home suddenly Saturday night, leaving their families practically penniless, have not been heard from. Efforts are being made to locate them.

Jury's Verdict Cuts No Figure in Result

Louisville, Miss., September 22.—It is now thought Swinton Termenter will die. A mob of his townsmen have decreed his fate. With Termenter, a young white man, in jail awaiting trial for the assault and murder of Jamie Sharpe, armed deputies are guarding the jail to prevent an attack. When the prisoner was brought here from Winona, Miss., last night, a lynching was narrowly averted. A heavily armed guard kept back a mob of 1,000 men and landed him in jail. Later Termenter was taken into court and pleaded not guilty. His trial probably will end today. Sharpe sympathizers are bound that he will die, convicted or not.

MEMPHIS CONFERENCE POSTPONED ONE WEEK

Postponement of the Memphis annual conference of the Methodist church, which will meet this fall in Paducah at the Broadway Methodist church, has been made from November 9 to November 16, a week later. This change in date was made by Bishop W. A. Candler because of the local elections in Tennessee November 8. The pastor, the Rev. G. T. Sullivan, received the news today, and the change of date is entirely satisfactory to the Paducah members. The conference will be in session for a week.

THE WEATHER

The predictions and temperature for the past twenty-four hours will be found at the top of the seventh column on page four.

FLORAL HALL AT FAIR GROUNDS IS BEING FITTED UP

Only Bad Weather Can Make McCracken County Fair
Fair a Failure.

Interest is Growing in All Departments.

CHICKEN FANCY PRIZES.

Decorations in floral hall at the fair grounds are now completed by the Paducah Fair association and the merchants will begin the decoration of their booths immediately. Some have already begun and others will follow. The merchants will follow the color scheme of red, white and blue, and the hall will present a pitiful appearance for the opening of Paducah's biggest and best fair next Wednesday morning.

Floral hall will be thrown open each of the four days from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. The gates at the grounds will open at 9 o'clock in the morning and the races will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Secretary Davis, of the association, is in receipt of a letter from John Taylor, a prominent race horse man of Wauseon, Ohio, telling him that many of the fast harness horses that have been in the big race circuits in Ohio are coming here to compete for the prizes offered. This is good news to the association as well as the general public and fast races are assured. Horses from Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee and other states are coming also.

Southern Illinois is surprisingly aroused over the Paducah fair, according to Louis Klekaslo, a wealthy and prominent farmer of Massena county, who was in Paducah today in consultation with Secretary Davis. Mr. Klekaslo said the local fair was the talk of the country and farmers were stirred up over it. They have taken much interest and feel as if they will add to the success of the exhibits. Mr. Klekaslo while here reserved six pens for his poultry and says many of the Illinois farmers will bring exhibits here this week.

J. D. Coffee, a prominent farmer of Woodville has asked for a reserve of several acres for a display of his hogs and cattle. A letter was received from him today asking for a reservation. Farmers of this county are deeply interested in the approach of the fair and the exhibits will be numerous and the best products placed on view.

The implement firm of J. E. Rogers & company is building a booth on the grounds for the exhibit of farming implements. A big attraction will be the model dairy of S. A. Fowler. Several new machines for churning and making butter have arrived from a New York factory, which will have a representative there during the fair to make demonstrations.

In the floral hall Miss Birdie Nash will be the entry clerk for fancy work, preserve and other articles to be placed on exhibit by the women of Paducah and McCracken county. The ladies are urged to take their exhibits to the grounds next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in order to avoid the congestion on the opening day. All exhibits will be in place on Tuesday and there will be no delay in throwing floral hall open for the patrons.

Chicken Prizes.

The American Black Minorca club offers special ribbons each for first prize single comb Black Minorca cock, hen, cockerel, pullet and pen. Competition is open to members of the club and to breeders of these birds who apply with $2 for membership before the opening of the fair next week. The number of ribbons won will be credited to each winner in the club catalogue, and championship will be awarded to each winner of the largest number of ribbons in each state.

Secretary Davis of the fair association, today received word from Frank McElram, of Lancaster, Pa., concerning the Single Comb Black Minorca birds. The poultry tent is being erected and will be filled with the finest specimens grown in the purchase.

Entries for the races and all of the exhibitions are piling up rapidly and this indicates a full display in all departments. The exhibitors are urged to take their products to the floral hall at the fair grounds next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock for enrollment and entry cards. The hall will open at 9 o'clock and remain open all day, being in charge of entry clerks.

Ollie James Will Support Champ Clark For Speaker and It Is Said is Candidate For Paynter's Seat

Big First District Congressman Looking For Toga—No Fusion Candidate in Eleventh Ky. District.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22. (Special.)—An Evening Post special from Frankfort today says that Congressman Ollie James, of the First district formally announced his candidacy for the United States senate. This was in an interview, in which a Paducah dispatch, announcing the belief that Mr. James would prefer to stay in the house with Democratic chances of success improving, was shown him. Mr. James is reported to have said that he is for Champ Clark, of Missouri, for speaker of the house, and that he is a candidate for the nomination for United States senator.

Bertram in the Eleventh.

Somerset, Ky., Sept. 22. (Special.)—Senator Bertram will be the Democratic candidate for congressman in the Eleventh district against Caleb Powers. The Democratic district convention here today rejected any plan for a fusion and decided to go it alone. The campaign promises to be more bitter than the Edwards-Powers contest for the nomination. The district was gerrymandered to make the Third and Eighth districts Democratic, and gives a Republican majority of 20,000.

Chorus Choir Tonight

The chorus choir for the Torrey meetings will rehearse tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the First Christian church. There was a large attendance at the last rehearsal, but any one desiring to join is invited to be present tonight. Probably not more than one additional rehearsal will be held, as the meetings begin at the churches next week preparatory for the Auditorium meetings, which start a week from Sunday.

Miss Mahoney Here

Miss Mahoney, the popular district nurse, for the Charly club last year, has returned to Paducah and probably will be in charge of the work this year.

A MOTION TO DISSOLVE INJUNCTION IS HEARD.

A motion of City Solicitor James Campbell, Jr., to dissolve the injunction granted M. L. Rickman, a saloon keeper, to prevent the revocation of his license by Mayor James P. Smith, was heard this morning by Circuit Judge Reed, who has not made a decision. Arguments were made by Mr. Campbell, for the city, and Attorney Oliver and Cecil Reed for Rickman. Several weeks ago James Rickman, bartender at Rickman's saloon, was found guilty of selling liquor to a minor and fined $50 by a jury in police court. Mayor Smith then took steps to revoke the license when the injunction proceedings were resorted to by Rickman's attorneys.

BALLAST GOES IN OPERATING COST

SHIPPERS SAY THAT IS HOW RAILROAD PAID THEIR EXPENSES.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Vice President Gardner, of the Northwestern railroad, admitted today, in the interstate commerce commission hearing, that $2,300,000 in included in the company's statement as operating expenses, was expended for ballast, bridges and depots, and not properly classed as operating expenses. Shippers' attorneys declared this to be a common practice to prove the roads were not making expenses.

Two Governors Present.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 22.—Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, was chosen temporary chairman of the freight rate conference of governors which was opened here today. Five hundred delegates were present. Governor Donaghy, of Arkansas, and Stubbs, were the only governors able to attend.

Chicago Market.

RUN OF HARD LUCK.

Mayfield, Ky., Sept. 22.—J. M. Duckwile, aged 47, died at his home, one mile from Dukedom, and the cause of his death was said to have been from an overdose of opium. He was recently arrested and held to the grand jury on the charge of malicious shooting and later sued for $5,000 damages by the person who was shot and injured. Only a few days ago Duckwile lost his barn and crop of tobacco by fire.

CAIRO BOOSTERS GET CONVENTION

OHIO VALLEY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION HERE IN 1911.

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 22.—Cairo landed the next meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement association for next September. The announcement was made today. Cairo sent a big delegation of her best citizens to the convention at Cincinnati Tuesday to work for the meeting next year, and they are proud of their success. Five cars of prominent Cairo people attended the convention yesterday, and are visiting the exposition today.

Lakes to Gulf Rebuffed.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 22.—Arriving President Taft for his attitude toward waterways projects as shown in his Cincinnati speech, W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association, in a letter received here today, indicates that his organization will support Roosevelt for a third term. Kavanaugh condemns Taft's failure to appoint Lyman Cooley to the board of engineers. He quotes Roosevelt as saying at St. Paul that "the waterways movement must go forward."

Peacher Infant.

The three-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peacher, of Duane, Ky., died yesterday. The funeral and burial were held there today.

BENEFIT GAME PLAYED HERE ON NEXT SUNDAY

League ball players will make their farewell bow to the fans this season next Sunday afternoon when a benefit game will be played between the Paducah league team and the B. B. Hook team. The receipts will be for the benefit of the players. Chief Lloyd will umpire the contest. The Hooks have a strong team, and will put up a game fight. The teams will line up: Indians—G. Block, c; Hart or Gwin, p; Taylor, 1b; Bralhe, 2b; Mercer, 3b; Zuke, Taylor, ss; Gwin or Hart, lf; Warden, cf; and W. Block, rf. Hooks—Bralhe, c; Runyan, p; Williams, 1b; Harper, 2b; Carroll, 3b; Cox, ss; Harper, lf; Hanna, cf; and Wagner, rf.

LORIMER COMMITTEE COMMENCES ITS WORK

Chicago, Sept. 22.—With Senator Frazier, and Binkley, still missing, the senatorial committee which is to investigate the election of Senator Lorimer, commenced its work at 11 o'clock today. No witnesses were called, the five members merely discussing a plan of procedure.

Chicago Attorney Elbridge Haney, representing Lorimer, asked that the inquiry be postponed. He said Lorimer wishes to call as witnesses Lee O'Neal Browne, Senator Broderick, and others who are not available now. Clifford Barnes told the committee the legislative voters' league brought the charges on evidence gathered by the Chicago Tribune, that the league itself has not evidence and will not be represented by attorneys. The committee will decide tomorrow whether the Tribune shall be allowed representation in the inquiry, and also the postponement motion.

County Judge Alben Barkley, City Judge D. A. Cross, City Treasurer George Walters, Chief of Police Henry Slinger and City Jailer James Clark left for Cairo this morning to attend the trial of Scott Ferguson, of this city.

CONFESSES THEFT OF UNCLE'S HORSE AND SELLING IT

Craig McGee, of St. Louis, Took $200 Animal From Carlisle County.

Sold it to Paducah Liveryman
For $40.

HE WILL NOT BE PROSECUTED.

Clever detective on the part of Patrolman W. C. Rickman, mixed with luck, early this morning netted him a self-confessed horse thief, who was placed in the county jail here on two charges.

Craig McGee, 21 years old, of St. Louis, who admitted taking a $200 bay horse owned by his uncle, George McGee, from the farm near Bardwell yesterday and riding it to Paducah where he sold it to Fletcher Terrell, a liveryman for $40, was captured more by chance than anything else at 3 o'clock this morning at Union station, when he alighted from a taxicab, which Patrolman Rickman had quietly boarded at Bardwell and Caldwell streets a few minutes previously, after challenging the chauffeur. McGee first denied his identity, saying his name was Ford. Pressed by Mr. Rickman he admitted his name and when he had been delivered at police headquarters he confessed to Police Sergeant Lige Cross and Mr. Rickman following a sweating process.

Two warrants were sworn out against him, but his uncle, who arrived today and Mr. Terrell decline to prosecute him.

The Confession.

According to McGee's confession, he had been residing in St. Louis prior to this summer, when he went to his uncle's home. George McGee is chief engineer on the ferryboat "Three States," plying between Cairo and Wickliffe. Yesterday he bridled a fine light bay horse, riding to Paducah where he sold it to Fletcher Terrell for $40.

While McGee was being transferred to the county jail this morning after police court he told Patrolman Lyeurgis Rice that he thought he could sell the animal and get back to St. Louis without his uncle being any the wiser.

Word was received by the police yesterday afternoon to watch out for McGee and every patrolman was given a description of him. McGee reached here between 11 and 1 o'clock yesterday and first intended taking the Louisville train at 1:33 o'clock this morning. Gus Nolan, colored, a cab driver, who had carried McGee to a house on the south side of the city last night, told Patrolman Rickman at Union station that McGee had changed his mind about going to Louisville and would take the 3:57 train south over the Illinois Central. Hearing of his whereabouts about 3 o'clock this morning Mr. Rickman jumped into a cab at the depot and started in search of McGee. Reaching Eleventh and Caldwell streets, he met a taxicab and stopped it. The driver told him he had two male passengers and the description of one fitted McGee. Mr. Rickman mounted the seat by the driver and rode to the depot. When McGee stopped from the auto he was placed under arrest. Sergeant Cross accompanied them to police headquarters in the patrol wagon.

On being searched $26 and a gold watch were taken from McGee. The horse is now in possession of Mr. Terrell and word of his nephew's arrest has been sent to George McGee.

Will Change the Heaters.

Different arrangement of the heaters in the circuit court room will be made. There are plenty of heaters, but they are arranged improperly and do not heat the building comfortably. This morning Magistrate Householder, Walston and Emery made an inspection. Another radiator will be placed in the office of Circuit Clerk J. A. Miller.

VALUABLE CARGO FROM GALVESTON

MARION FAIR IS TO BE BROUGHT TO PADUCAH IN TOTO

Whole Outfit Promised For Races and Displays of Live Stock.

Decorators Are Busy at the Grounds.

TORRICO EXHIBIT LARGEST

A letter from its representative at Marion, Ill., received by the Paducah Fair association today says that the entire outfit of the Marion fair is coming to Paducah for the fair and races beginning next Wednesday morning. Among the horses there are some fast steppers and many large concessions will come along also.

Decorations at floral hall were begun this morning by Hart, Lockwood & company, hardware dealers; Leake Printing company; the Paducah Home Telephone company and Michael Brothers, harness and saddle dealers. Other merchants will follow the latter part of this week and the first of next. A feature of the displays will be that of the Foreman & Graham Automobile company in floral hall.

Interest among the farmers continues to grow and when Secretary Davis passed through the market house this morning he was confronted by all the farmers, who told him of the exhibits they would take to the grounds. Especially are the farmers interested in the tobacco displays. One-fifth of the space in floral hall will be occupied by tobacco samples. Expert graders will be on hand to place the weed in its proper place. The finest grades of all types will be shown and the handsome premiums are attracting wide attention among the purchase growers. A small army of men in action at the grounds as present is a sight within itself. Preparations are being completed for the concessions and outside exhibits and carpenters and tent pitchers are to be seen constantly. Horses are being worked out daily and another string of runners and harness horses are looked for the last of this week.

Insurance Agents Here.
Three local fire insurance agencies are in Paducah today. Messrs. J. H. Noble, of Madison, Ill., of the Phoenix of London and A. Peterson, of Nashville, with the National Insurance company are here adjusting the McKinney and Ford losses. Mr. Robert Snyder, of Louisville, with the Hanover company, is here on business.

By the Light of the Moon.
Taking advantage of the moonlight W. H. Force, the superintendent of the city light plant, has arranged for the installation of the new large engine by changing the old machinery to make room for it. The work of shifting the old machinery began Wednesday night and last night it was completed. Contractor Weikel will begin to install the concrete foundation for the engine in a short time.

DR. HERICK JOHNSON WEDS.

Seventy-Eight-Year-Old Professor Marries Young Woman.
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 23.—Dr. Herick Johnson, formerly of the McCormick Theological seminary of Chicago, was married here last night to Miss Margaret Duncan, of Louisville, Rev. J. S. Lyon, of Westminster Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony. Dr. Johnson is 78 and his bride about 30. The couple left for the east and will reside in Philadelphia.

CHIEF SINGERY FINDS EVIDENCE

Chief of Police Singery's trip to Cairo yesterday was profitable, and he returned last night with enough evidence against Berry Nokes, colored, who is now being held on a charge of grand larceny, to warrant another prosecution. A fine double eagle gold watch, which was stolen from P. Thomas, of Memphis, at the New Richmond House several weeks ago, was recovered from Michaelson's pawn shop. Chief Singery also recovered a fine gold watch stolen here from W. M. Vlek, of New Liberty, Ill., on September 7. Nokes pawned the watch owned by Thomas and Chief Singery is trying to get in communication with the owner, who may prosecute. Nokes was held over to the grand jury from police court a few days ago on a charge of grand larceny.

Pellagra Discovered at Asylum By Dr. H. P. Sights---One Case From Fulton Co., Proves Fatal

State Board of Health Makes Report---Republican Candidate in Third Withdraws---News of the State.

Bowling Green, Ky., Sept. 23.—(Special)—According to official statement at the state board of health here today, five well developed cases of pellagra and two deaths are reported at the Hopkinsville asylum.

Dr. Sights Corroborates It.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 23.—(Special)—Dr. Sights of Western Asylum confirms report from Bowling Green, regarding pellagra at the asylum, but says all the patients were brought here innocently with disease, and one, W. S. Morris, of Fulton, was dying when he arrived.

Howard Quits in Third.
Bowling Green, Ky., Sept. 23.—(Special)—Nat. Howard, Republican nominee, has withdrawn from the congressional race on account of ill health.

Dry Law Wins.
Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 23.—(Special)—The appellate court affirmed Flander vs. the commonwealth from Caldwell county. Flander was convicted for selling liquor in local option territory.

Holland-Aldrich.
Jackson, Tenn., Sept. 23.—Miss Ellen Ophelia Aldrich and Morris Holland were married at the Methodist parsonage at Hanks, the Rev. C. D. Hildard officiating. The groom is employed in the supervisor's department of the Cairo division of the Illinois Central, and he and his bride will reside at Fulton, Ky.

New Home for Capt. Cowling.
Plans have nearly been completed at the office of Architect A. F. Lancaster for the construction of a handsome two-story frame residence in Metropolis by Captain E. J. Cowling. The construction of the house will begin soon, and it will be complete with all modern conveniences. The residence will cost about $6,000.

May-Hollingsworth.
Clinton, Ky., Sept. 23.—Alvin May of Jonesboro, Ark., and Miss Ada Hollingsworth, of this county, were married yesterday in Clinton by Dr. J. A. Farabough. They will reside in Jonesboro.

CRAIG MCGEE IS HELD OVER TO GRAND JURY

Craig McGee, whose arrest early Thursday morning was due to the good work of Patrolman W. C. Rickman, pleaded guilty to charges of horse stealing and obtaining money by false pretenses in police court this morning and was held over to the grand jury. His bond was fixed at $500 in each case and he was remanded to the county jail. George McGee, his uncle, has decided not to interfere and says he will let the law take its course. He identified the stolen bay horse as his own and it was turned over to him. Fletcher Terrell, who bought the horse from Craig McGee in good faith, was willing to give up the animal and may be given the $24 taken from McGee on his arrest.

Flies Over the Alps And Falls into Italy

Urig, Switzerland, Sept. 23.—The flyers must now seek more worlds to conquer, since the flight of the Alps has at last been negotiated. George C. Chazez, a Peruvian aviator, is the man who finally made a successful flight of the Alps mountains, but he paid for the honor dearly.

After careful preparation, Chazez left here this morning and flew over the Simplon pass, 75 miles from here. The pass is a fully 7,000 feet high. Chazez landed at Domodossola, and this afternoon resumed his flight to Milan, Italy, his ultimate destination.

He made the trip successfully, but

The predictions and temperatures for the past twenty-four hours will be found at the top of the seventh column on page four.

LORIMER STUNNED.
Chicago, Sept. 23.—The senatorial committee investigating the election of Senator Lorimer today overruled the motion of Lorimer's counsel for a postponement until after the fall elections. The committee decided the investigation should start at once. The request of the Chicago Tribune that its counsel be allowed to present its case against Lorimer was granted.

Call to Ladies

To the ladies of Paducah and vicinity:
The Paducah Fair association requests of you that you send all of your display articles to the fair grounds Tuesday September 27 by 9 a. m. If you haven't any, kindly tell your neighbors to bring what they have. If there are no prizes offered in the catalogue we will see that you get one and also a blue ribbon. The fair association desires to make floral hall one of the main features of the fair and your efforts and work is all we need to make it a success. Remember there is no entry fee charged and also remember Wednesday is "Ladies Day." All ladies will be admitted to the grounds free of charge. Our earnest request is that you all attend as an assurance of a success.

Respectfully,
RODNEY S. DAVIS,
Secretary.

Rachael Jackson on Trial.

The exhuming trial of Rachael Jackson, colored, charged with the murder of her husband, James Jackson, is being held at the county court house this afternoon before County Judge Burley. The trial began at 2 o'clock and the woman is being defended by Attorneys D. A. Cross and T. N. Hazlip. She shot and killed her husband Monday afternoon, the coroner's jury bringing in a verdict that the killing was in self-defense.

C. C. & W. BOYS WILL HAVE FOOTBALL TEAM

It was decided last night at a meeting of the football players of the Chess, Checker and Wheel club to place a team out this season and practice will begin in a short time. The club has always had a strong team, and it is expected to have a winning eleven this season. It may be necessary to secure some outside players, but the team will be a go. Of last year's team the following players were present: St. John, H. Fisher, Elliott, Cope and Reyburn. McLean college at Hopkinsville has asked for a game while games with the High school and Union university at Jackson, Tenn., probably will be secured.

No Decision Yet

No decision regarding the responsibility for the freight wreck at White Plains, will be given out by the railroad officials until tomorrow when some more minor evidence will be gathered. Last night the Illinois Central officials held the investigation in the city clerk and freight office. The evidence is rather conflicting regarding the exact time and cause of the collision.

Flies Over the Alps And Falls into Italy

He was perhaps, fatally hurt, when his monoplane plunged to the earth from a height of almost 9,000 feet near Milan. Chazez had lost control of his craft, when, on account of the high altitude and the cold, his hands were benumbed. The machine plunged straight for the earth, and when within only 200 feet of ground, the operator regained partial control, in time to somewhat check the descent. The violence of the fall, however, was sufficient to break this left leg, and right thigh. Chazez was followed into the air by Henry Weymann, an American, but he was forced to descend on account of an accident to his ship.

Mrs. G. B. Lamb.

Mrs. G. B. Lamb died Wednesday night at her home in Puryear, Tenn., after an illness of several months. Four brothers, Walter, Charles, Thomas and M. D. Thomas, resided in Paducah, and they left yesterday to attend the funeral and burial.

TAFT ENDORSED BY REPUBLICANS AT SPRINGFIELD

Illinois State Convention Admires His Tariff and Conservation Policies.

Lee O'Neal Browne at Democratic Meeting.

LOHMER HUNCH IS DEFEATED.

East St. Louis, Sept. 23.—Lee O'Neal Browne, and Jos. Clark, who are under indictments in Sangamon county, were conspicuous features in the state Democratic convention here this afternoon. It was expected the Lorimer case would be smothered by the Chicago delegation.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23.—The Republican state convention today adopted a platform, commending the national administration's tariff policies and tariff letter. The platform conforms to the keynote speech of Governor Deneen. The Deneen faction was in complete control, and the governor was named permanent chairman. The platform favors the creation of a permanent tariff commission, commending the action of the Sixty-first congress, and commends Taft's conservation views. It favors a moderation of the street railway laws, and a constitutional amendment abolishing minority representation. Joe Cannon made a characteristic speech.

Direct election of United States senators and the initiative and referendum are urged. The bi-partisan combination in the last legislature is condemned and grand jury investigations of corruption is urged.

The Illinois Republicans are meeting in delegate convention today and will adopt a platform standing solidly behind Taft's position on the tariff as expressed in his letter to the Republican congressional committee.

This plank will commend the appointment of a permanent tariff commission and revise the tariff schedule at a time. The leaders of the party were in session far into the night, thrashing out the details. Speaker Cannon arrived. He did not seek specific commendation in the platform. He will not be mentioned. The Republican delegation to congress will receive a blanket of approval.

The platform disavows party responsibility for the bi-partisan combination which elected Speaker Shurtliff and the one which elevated Lorimer to the senate.

A corrupt practices act will be demanded, and likewise an amendment to the constitution to abolish "minority representation."

Under this feature of the law a voter, where there are three candidates, in this manner it declared that many whose names have figured more or less in legislative scandals are enabled to secure re-nominations.

Other legislation demanded is: An amendment strengthening the civil service law; anti-pass and anti-frank law; revision of the revenue laws; employers' liability and workmen's compensation acts; greater control of railroads, express, telegraph and telephone; making possible the commission form of government; conserving state and natural resources.

At a meeting of the state central committee Roy O. West, of Chicago, was re-elected chairman; Governor Deneen declared that the day is past in which a platform could consist largely of pleasant sounds. He declared the document of the party must be prepared to live up to the promises.

PASSING BAD MONEY IS CHARGED AGAINST ALLEN.

Charged with passing counterfeit money, John Allen, a negro barber, was arrested at noon today by Patrolman Cleveland on a warrant sworn out by Sam Heister, a negro, who alleges that Allen gave him a bad dollar yesterday to change. Allen claims he was given the dollar by a customer and not having the change he went to Heister, who conducts a business next door to the barber shop. Allen denies he knew the money was bad. The case was set for tomorrow morning in police court.

Big Flour Mill Will be Built Here By Rockport, Ind., Miller, as Soon as Permission From City is Secured

Will be Located at Second and Clark Streets and Will Have Capacity of 200 Barrels.

A long felt want is about to be filled in Paducah. A flouring mill with 200 barrel per day capacity to begin with, will be erected at Second and Clark streets, by Mr. Davis, of Rockport, Ind., a successful miller. Mr. Herbert Hawkins, of this city, will be associated with him. News that the deal was on looked out through efforts of the firm to secure a permit to erect a frame and direct iron building within the fire district. Members of the city council were visited today, and it is believed permission will be granted, as the location is on the very edge of the district.

Dr. Davis brought an architect with him, and as soon as they are assured their work will not be interfered with by the city later on, plans will be completed and the contract let for the building and machinery. No special meeting of the general council will be called, but each member will be waited on and his opinion secured.

A brick or stone warehouse and mill would be out of all reason as to cost. The proposed structure with the machinery and capacity stated will represent an investment of over $50,000. Options on the site are held, and after permission of the city is granted, there will be no delay in getting the plant under way. The value of the plant to be Paducah will be incalculable. Paducah now buys all her flour away from home, and the bread bill of the city amounts, it is estimated, to more than $500 a day. All this money goes out of the city, without any return, while wheat from Missouri, Indiana and Illinois is carried past Paducah up the Ohio, Tennessee, and Cumberland rivers to Evansville, Chattanooga and Memphis. With a big mill here, this will at once become a wheat market, and an additional attraction will be offered to the farmers across the river to come to Paducah. The river trade of the city will benefit, while the additional men employed will increase the total payroll of the city.

Itango-Stone.

Clinton, Ky., Sept. 23.—Miss Ruth Stone and John Ringo were married at the home of the bride in Columbus. Owing to a recent bereavement in the family of the bride, the wedding was a quiet one. Mr. and Mrs. Ringo will make their home with the groom's father near town.

Married at the Court House.

Held to Grand Jury

Accused of assaulting 10-year-old Rudy Galtier, son of Sanitary Inspector J. L. Galtier, with a baseball bat last Sunday afternoon, Sam Sasseen, of Mayfield, was held over to the grand jury from police court this morning and his bond was fixed at $300, in default of which he went to the county jail. The Galtier lad is able to be up and is improving from the lick received over the spine.

RACING AUTO HITS POST; RIDERS HURT

ACCIDENT TO ENTRY FOR THE VANDERBILT CUP THIS MORNING.

Mineola, Long Island, Sept. 23.—Speeding at 65 miles an hour, George Robertson, a racing driver, lost control of his Benz car, on the motor parkway here this morning and was seriously injured. He is in the Mineola hospital. Robertson suffered a fractured collar bone, a dislocated shoulder, a probable fracture of the skull and internal injuries. Steven A. Reynolds, riding with Robertson, was less seriously hurt. Their brakes failed to work and the car overturned where the parkway merges into a dirt roadway. The car struck a post and the men were buried through a fence. They were tuning up for the Vanderbilt cup race.

GUNNERS STUNNED.

On board United States Battleship Georgia, Southern dells ground, wireless via Portsmouth, Va., Sept. 23.—Fourteen members of the crew in the forward turret were severely stunned today by the explosion of the muzzle of a great 12-inch gun, on the left side. The gun had been fired as the opening shot in today's target practice. The men were found not to be seriously hurt when assistance reached them.

LEVY'S ADM'R. VS. GLOBE B. & T.

APPELLATE'S MOTION TO DISMISS CASE IS SUSTAINED TODAY.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 23.—(Special)—In the appellate court Levy's administrator vs. the Globe Bank & Trust company, of McCracken, the appellate's motion to dismiss appeal was sustained.

In the McCracken circuit court judgment for the bank was given for money paid on the life insurance policy of Will Levy. Mrs. Hannah Levy, the administratrix, appealed the case to the appellate court.

Family Without Support.

The family of Sam Etheridge, of 1528 Jones street, who disappeared from home last Saturday, appealed to the Charity club today for food. Etheridge and his brother, Elijah, of 702 South Sixteenth street both left the city unawares and have not been heard from. The police department has been trying to locate them, but have failed so far. Mrs. Etheridge appealed to Chief of Police Singery this morning for assistance and he directed her to the charity club. She is penniless with four children, one an infant of three weeks. Ignorant of the direction Etheridge went Chief Singery is handicapped in stopping him.

Inquiry About the Towhead.

Inquiry has been made by a Louisville man, concerning the ownership of the towhead in the Ohio river below Paducah. It was proposed several months ago for the Burlington bridge to be constructed across the Ohio river at this point, using the towhead. The Burlington officials have announced that the bridge will be built at Metropolis, provided the permit is issued by the war department. Should the permit be refused the railroad might desire to obtain the towhead.

TWENTY KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

ROCK ISLAND PASSENGER TRAIN DASHES THROUGH TRESTLE INTO RAVINE.

Norton, Kan., Sept. 23.—Twenty persons are reported killed and 20 injured when a Rock Island passenger train from St. Louis to Denver, today plunged through a trestle in a creek west of Clayton. Four bodies have been recovered. Last night a cloudburst washed out the trestle.

MILLINERY OPENINGS ATTRACTIVE DISPLAYS

Today was opening day at the millinery shops, and all day a large number of feminine shoppers have thronged the business district in an effort to have a peep at the latest creations in hats. The Paducah milliners have secured an unusual handsome line of hats, and there is not any excuse to leave the city to purchase millinery. The styles this year are extreme both ways. Some are so small that they can hardly be seen, while others nearly hide the face of the wearer.

Rhode Island Boss Dies.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 23.—Gen. Charles Breyton, the blind Republican boss of Rhode Island, died suddenly at his home here early today. A fracture of his leg a few days ago, caused complications and hastened his death.

ROOSEVELT AND SHERMAN CLAIM TO BE WINNERS

Former President Expresses Confidence of Defeating "Old Guard."

Griscorn Echoes Hopes of His Chief.

BOSS OF LITTLE RHODEY DIES

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 23.—"I feel certain that we will have a majority of 100 delegates in the state convention. I will run for the temporary chairmanship. My friends desire that I run. It will be an open convention fight."

In these words Col. Theodore Roosevelt made it clear that he confidently believes he has the old guard of the Republican party beaten in the Saratoga fight. He made his sanguine announcement after a conference at Sagamore Hill with Comptroller Prendergast, of New York, Otto T. Bannard, Lloyd Griscorn, Republican leader in New York county; Representatives Herbert Parsons and Calder and Naval Officer Krake. For three hours the ex-president talked over the state situation with his callers and the prospective line-up of delegates at Saratoga was minutely taken up. A table was compiled from figures furnished by the leaders in the conference. When it was all over Col. Roosevelt, his face beaming and his tone triumphant, made his declaration that he was sure he had won the fight and that he would have his own way at the convention.

No Platform Yet.
The ex-president made it perfectly plain that he preferred to have no compromise on the temporary chairmanship. He frowned upon a suggestion that Senator Elihu Root might be agreed upon as a man acceptable to both factions. Col. Roosevelt is firmly convinced that he has at least 100 votes more than enough to elect him, and he wants to make the victory decisive.

The ex-president and his allies in the Saratoga battle have not made up their minds upon their candidate for governor, nor have they decided upon the platform they expect to put through. Both of these points were discussed at the conference, but no final decision was arrived at. As to the candidate for governor, Mr. Roosevelt favors an up-state man.

"All the sentiment seems to be in favor of an up-stater," remarked the colonel. "We are waiting to talk the governorship over with the up-state leaders. We want to see whom the people up there desire."

The nomination for governor, so far as the problem stands now, will go to any one of these six men, if the Roosevelt forces actually control the convention: William Hotchkiss, state superintendent of Insurance; Jacob Schurman, president of Cornell university; State Senator Davenport, of Oneida county; State Senator Harvey Hinman, Elias Mann, mayor of Troy, and Frank C. Steyens, state superintendent of public works.

Griscorn Is Confident.

New York, Sept. 23.—Col. Roosevelt's chief lieutenants in the fight the "progressive" element of the Republican party is to make against the "old guard" at Saratoga next week, went to Oyster Bay this afternoon for the last conference before the convention. They were Lloyd C. Griscorn, chairman of the New York county committee; Otto T. Bannard, Congressman Herbert Parsons and Naval Officer Kracke, the "progressive" leader in Kings county.

Before leaving, Mr. Griscorn reiterated his predictions of success in the fight for the selection of a temporary chairman of the convention.

John Hays Hammond, president of the National League of Republican clubs, and John A. Stewart, the New York state president of the organization, called on Mr. Griscorn today and assured him of any support the league could give the "progressives" in the coming contest.

John A. Schleicher, who has laid the framework of many Republican platforms, is at work on the foundation of the platform the "progressives" expect to send to the Saratoga convention.

Sherman Confident, Too.
Utica, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Vice President Sherman returned to Utica from Atlantic City, where he attended the national encampment of the G. A. R.

Replying to the question as to the length of his stay in Utica, he said: "I shall be here until the Republican state convention meeting in Saratoga; then I am going there to preside."

My Corns Don't Hurt a Bit

Tired, Aching, Swollen, Smarting, Sore Feet, Corns, Calluses and Blisters, TIZ Cures Right Off.

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will never know you have a corn, blister or callous, or twenty, ached, swollen, smarting feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn—hammer it with your first if you wish—no more pain after TIZ than if there had never been a blister on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it?

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. Today there is no sign of corns on either foot, and no soreness. It's an up-to-date find."—Smo. A. Hoover, Progress, N. C.

Just use TIZ. It's not like anything else for the purpose you ever heard of. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principal of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. It works right off. You will feel better the very first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it.

TIZ is for sale at all drug stores at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Lodge & Co., Dodge Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

WHERE PLAYERS SPEND WINTERS

WILL LEAVE KITTY LEAGUE TOWNS FOR HOME.

Fans Must Content Themselves With Watching the Dope Hereafter.

SCORES IN ALL THE LEAGUES.

With the Kitty season of 1910 passed into history the fans will have to spend the winter months digesting statistics of batting and fielding averages, and smoking up for the prospects of next year's team that will defend the honor of Paducah upon the diamond. With the completion of the season Tuesday in Hopkinsville, the Indians remained over there yesterday to participate in the benefit game. Most of the tribe will return to the city this week, and will participate in the benefit game Sunday at League park with the B. B. Hook team.

While Paducah did not perch upon the topmost round of the percentage column this year, the fans have been treated to about as good baseball as any in the league. The team has been composed of good ball players and can claim about as many individual stars as any club in the league. In most of the games the players have extended their best efforts, and with the completion of the season the fans have little fault to find. Changes in the management have naturally brought about temporary demoralization of the club, and this has prevented the Indians from winning more games. Too, the Indians played in hard luck, and had the largest hospital list of any team in the league. Practically all season at least one man was crippled, and frequently several players were out of condition owing to personal injuries. With a good strong manager at the head of the club all season, the bunch of ball players gathered together to represent Paducah would have made the other teams hustle harder.

By next week the players will have returned to their homes to resume the life of the ordinary citizen without the applause and knocks of the fans. A few will participate in independent games until chilly weather kills the sport. The players will center in every direction. Frank Overton, the steady little catcher, is a candy maker in Louisville and will return to his home. George Block, "Our George," whose work behind the bat and as utility man combined with his splendid hitting will make him an even better player next year if retained by Paducah, will winter in Paducah, his home. Among the twirlers Jesse Gwin will go to Memphis, where he is a city salesman. Guy Woodruff is a machinist from Muncie, Ind., and with his bride will return home. Lee Hurt, who did such splendid work in the closing games, will winter in Paducah. Harry Floyd alms Rube, Little Zeke and Baby has returned to his home in Clinton, Tenn., and will attend school during the winter. Floyd is only 19 years old, and next year should be a winner.

Jimbo Cox, on first base, is a miner and hails from Harrisburg, Ill., where he can scoop up coal as well as he can baseballs around first base. Lou Varnadore is a railroad clerk in Louisville. While not in condition all season owing to an injury he has played steady ball. He and Mrs. Varnadore will return to Louisville to the regret to their many friends. Wood Payne, the sterling little third sacker, has come to his home in Nashville, where he spends the winter months as a stove-maker. Warden is a Cairo boy. Dorris Carroll, who has been on the staff in the remaining games is a Paducah boy, and will winter here.

Manager Dave Anderson and Mrs. Anderson and little son will return to their home in Indianapolis. As manager, Mr. Anderson sent the Indians up the ladder and besides being in charge of the team, has the reputation of being the best shortstop in the league. He opened the season as manager of Hopkinsville, but later resigned and then was signed by Paducah. When Louis Angermeyer resigned as manager, he was placed in charge of the club, and succeeded in instilling some life and ginger.

The prospects for next season are uncertain, but Paducah will have league baseball in a stronger league. Otto Gfroerer and Johnny Ray will be offered the franchise. The McLeansboro manager has his eye on Vincennes also, but Paducah is a splendid baseball city with a winning team, and the attendance will be larger with Cairo in the circuit as all of the old time rivalry will be revived.

Dope.

Block, the premier pitcher of the McLeansboro team has been purchased by the St. Louis Browns and he has been ordered to report in St. Louis. The Browns need good pitchers badly, and Block probably will be given an opportunity to demonstrate his worth. Block was one of the star twirlers of the league.

Catcher Beams, for years the backstop of the Napoléons has been given his release and Grover Land will be the catcher for the Cleveland team. Land has been trying out for several weeks and his catching and hitting have been so good that he will be retained permanently.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 22.—The players benefit game yesterday afternoon was attended by one of the largest crowds of the season Paducah won the game by a score of 5 to 4, and the fans were treated to some real classy sport. In addition to the game there were running races, throwing the ball, and jumping. The players changed positions frequently, and the players enjoyed the game fully as much as the spectators. About $300 was derived for the benefit of the players.

COUNTY HIGH IN DWELLING HOUSE

UNTIL BUILDING AT HEATH IS COMPLETED.

Another Month May Find Structure Ready for Occupancy of Pupils.

HOPE FOR LARGE ATTENDANCE.

It may be necessary that the first session of the county high school at Heath will be held in a dwelling until the new building can be completed, but the high school will open next Monday nevertheless. Prof. L. W. Pezzer, county school superintendent, is intent upon the school opening upon the date set, and will carry out the program. The contractors have not finished the building, and it is not probable that sufficient space will be completed to enable the session of the school to be held in the new building by Monday. Foreseeing this, Superintendent Pezzer has rented a dwelling near the high school, and this will be utilized as a school room until the new building can be completed. By next month it is expected that the building will be completed for the regular sessions of school. Arrangements have been made to accommodate 36 students for the opening of the school.

With the completion of farm work the enrollment of the high school is expected to increase, and by Christmas the attendance may reach 50 it is hoped. The new seats purchased by the board have not arrived, but temporary seats have been secured. Prof. Joseph Ragsdale is principal of the school again this year and will be assisted by Mrs. Ragsdale, who is a competent teacher.

Citizens of Heath will accommodate the students with board at reasonable prices. Superintendent Pezzer says that he can assure all students that they may obtain board.

Cuba Split With Giants.
New York, Sept. 23.—Chicago and New York split even, each game being marked by a score of 5 to 1. The visitors won because of Drucker's wildness, and the local victory was due to Reulbach's poor control, the Chicagoan's three wild pitches being responsible for as many runs.

Notes and Personal.
Captain James Koger returned last night from Hickman, Ky.
The towboat Thomas H. Henton arrived this morning from the Tennessee river with three barges of ties for the Chicago Car and Lumber company. She will make a return trip Monday.

The Harth left today for the mines at Caseyville for a tow of coal for the West Kentucky Coal company.
After undergoing a few repairs the George Cowling was dropped off the marine ways this morning and she resumed the Paducah and Metropolis trade, which has been idle over a week.

Gauge at 7 a. m. marked 5.3 feet, indicating a fall of .4 in 24 hours. Weather clear and business good.
The towboat I. N. Fiescher, which arrived yesterday afternoon from Rosedale, left this morning at 7 o'clock for Cairo to deliver her big tow of stone.

The Reuben Dunbar was the Evansville packet today, enjoying a good trade.
The John L. Lowry will be the Evansville boat tomorrow.
The J. B. Richardson arrived last night from Waterloo and went to weight a seven-thousandth millionth Brookport to unload, returning here, of an ounce.

New Fall Clothes

The new fall clothes are ready and we've prepared a special treat for you—the handsomest and most attractive line of Good Clothing, Furnishings and Hats ever shown in Paducah.

The ROXBORO and Hart, Schaffner & Marx Suits are the best which these master clothes builders have ever produced. The colorings are decidedly new and rich. Browns, tans, grays and the new pattern blues are all good.

$20 to $35

The $15 and $18 fall suits which we are showing are wonderful examples in value giving. We have made it a special point this season to crowd in these grades all the value we possibly could. All the new colors in browns, grays, tans and blues.

$15 and $18

Attractive patterns and great values are shown in the Loren, E. & W. and Cluett Shirts which we are showing for fall—$1.50 to $3.00. See those unusual $1.00 shirts in our window.

You men who appreciate style and quality see our Ludlows—the best $3 hat made. Stetson "Special" and Knox hats at $5 shown here exclusively.

TOBACCO REVIEW.

Louisville, Sept. 23.—The offerings on the local breaks follow:
Burley, 26; dark, 129. Original inspection, 139; reviews, 23; total, 162. Rejections yesterday—Burley, 36.

State Warehouse sold 10 hds. burley at $12.50 to $20.50. Two new hogheads were sold. One was common trash and brought $10.75, and the other was leaf and tips mixed. It brought $12.75. The tobacco was grown in Trimble county. This was the first new tobacco of the season.

Kentucky Warehouse sold 27 hds. dark at $5.95 to $10.
Ninth-street Warehouse sold 28 hds. dark at $5.25 to $11.25; 2 rejections.
The Dark warehouse sold 43 hogheads of dark at $6.40 to $10.75. Rejections, 24.

The Central warehouse sold 10 hogheads of burley at $7.00 to $11.75 and 30 hogheads of dark at $7.00 to $13.00. Rejections, 10.
Cincinnati—Tobacco offerings 67 hogheads. Quality good. Market very strong. High price $21.25 per 100 pounds.

First Hoghead of New Tobacco.
George C. & J. S. Turner, proprietors of the State Tobacco warehouse today the first hoghead of new tobacco of the season, N. C. Shouse & Co. and J. F. Dannenhold, brokers, being the buyers.

This was burley tobacco owned and shipped by Waller & McDowell and grown by them in Trimble county, Ky. While it was of only medium quality, it brought a higher price than the first shipments of tobacco usually bring. The hoghead of common trash of this crop sold for $10.75 per hundred pounds; the leaf and tips, $12.75 per hundred pounds, making an average of nearly $12 per hundred pounds.

LIVESTOCK.

Louisville, Sept. 23.—The receipts of hogs were 1,437 head; for the four days this week 3,914 head. The market was slow in opening, and rather uneven, there being considerable variation in the trim; the bulk of the hogs, however, sold 140 lbs. and up at $9.30; 50 to 140 lbs. $9.25; light pigs $8.00 to $8.50, and roughs $8.30 down. The pens were well cleared and the market closed steady.

Sheep and Lambs.
The receipts of sheep and lambs were 651, making a total of 3,053 for the four days this week. The market ruled quiet, but prices were firm; bulk of the best lambs 5 1/2 @ 5 3/4; some fancy as high as 6c; good butcher lambs 4 1/2 c. Fat sheep very dull. Fair demand for prime stock ewes; plain and common ewes slow sale.

Cattle.
The receipts of cattle today were 228, making a total of 3,326 for the four days this week. The attendance of buyers was light again today, and limited to the local talent; demand small, and the market quiet, with but little change to be noted. Fair inquiry for prime to fancy butcher cattle; that class scarce, but medium and inferior kinds were plentiful and dull to a shade lower. Good healthy trade for the best feeders and stockers; medium and plain grades slow to a shade lower; common trashy stockers dull; good bulls steady; common bulls and canners dull. Milch cows slow. No prime heavy cattle here; feeling easy.

Calves.
Receipts 119; for the four days 589. The market ruled about steady; bulk of the best 8 @ 8 1/2 c; some fancy light calves higher; medium 6 @ 8 c; common 2 1/2 @ 6 c.
St. Louis.—Cattle—Receipts 6,000; market steady; native beef steers $6.00 @ $8.10; calves in carload lots $6.00 @ $8.50. Hogs—Receipts 2,500; market 5 @ 10 c higher; pigs and lights $9.00 @ $9.45; packers $8.25 @ $9.40; butchers and best

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—The receipts of cattle were 221 head; for the three days this week, 3,098 head. There were only a few local butchers cattle ranging from 300 to 1,100 pounds, were very slow sale. There Monday's best time. Grassy half-fat and traders in evidence and their demands were light. The market ruled quiet from start to finish. Prime light butcher cattle were the best sellers at about steady prices, medium and common kinds were dull and drab to a shade to 10¢ to 15¢ lower than

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE.

Old Tells How a Hotchy Skin Was Cleared by a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie Pickard of Alton, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

If D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25 cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.—R. W. Walker Company

WESLEY HALL

FORMALLY OPENS AT BROADWAY CHURCH.

Club Room for Boys' Recreation
 Pastimes—Hansley Society Entertains.

The basement of the Broadway Methodist church has been fitted up as a room for boys and named "Wesley Hall." Last evening quite a good congregation met to open formally the room and after a beautiful program a social hour was spent with the boys and girls. The pastor, superintendent and teachers were present to make the occasion profitable and pleasant to all. Several friends made donations of appropriate pictures for the hall and a nice offering was taken for furnishings. The Hansley society served cake and cream to all during the social hour, and all went away happy over the formal opening of this attractive and well arranged room for the boys.

Many requests from Catarrh sufferers who use automatizers have caused us to put up Liquid Cream Balm, a new and convenient form of Eley's Cream Balm, the only remedy for Catarrh which can always be depended on. In power to nilay inflammation, to cleanse the clogged air-passages, to promote free, natural breathing, the two forms of Cream Balm are alike. Liquid Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 75 cents, including spraying tube. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

News of Theatres

On account of circumstances beyond our control we were unable to present the vaudeville bill advertised during the weeks of September 5 and 12.

The disappointment was due to the delayed opening of the two William Morris vaudeville theaters in St. Louis—the American Music Hall and the New Colonial—which were expected to furnish the acts that were to have played at The Kentucky.

Both of these houses are now open, and through an arrangement with the management of the Cairo opera house we are enabled to offer a full week of high-class vaudeville, beginning Monday, September 26, with complete change of bill on Thursday and positively guarantee the appearance of the acts advertised.

It is not our intention to present vaudeville regularly, but we will offer occasionally a program of the highest priced acts that have ever been offered in this theater.

Taste for vaudeville has been steadily increasing in Paducah and if the better grade of vaudeville offerings find favor with our patrons it is our aim to present many attractions that usually find places on the bills of only the higher priced vaudeville circuits.

CARNEY & GOODMAN.

The Star Theater.

An ambitious attempt is being made by Manager Desberger for the last three days of the week in bringing on Diaz & Rodriguez, real Spanish singers and dancers direct from Spain. This act is by the highest salaried people on the entire circuit through a rather expensive net for a vaudeville theater the management believes the added patronage the net will command will recompense them.

PRESSED HAIR.

Coffee's Weight on Old Age. When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the change in health that Postum can bring, they are glad to lend their testimony for the benefit of others.

A superintendent of public schools in a Southern state says: "My mother, since her early childhood, was an inveterate coffee drinker, had been troubled with her heart for a number of years and complained of that 'weak all over' feeling and sick stomach."

"Some time ago, I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee, and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum. I was so pleased with it that, after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and had wife prepare some for the next meal; the whole family liked it so well that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely."

"I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us."

"I know Postum has benefited myself and the other members of the family, but in a more marked degree in the case of my mother, as she was a victim of long standing."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

"The Girl From U. S. A."

The scenic investiture of "The Girl From U. S. A." which comes to The Kentucky Saturday, October 1, is said to be unusually rich in effects. Parisian salon, Turkish seraglio and oriental palace are each realistically shown. The American girl and her equally strenuous American lover certainly "do" things while abroad, and following them on the stage is to be absorbed in a maze of splendid kaleidoscope situations.

A Canadian Girl.

Margaret Anglin, now acknowledged to be one of the greatest among the younger generation of American actresses, is about to pay her first visit to the south either as a star or as a member of a company. Though, personally unknown to local playgoers, the fame of the distinguished actress has preceded her by many a day and it is pleasant to record the advent of this talented lady. She will appear here with her New York company in the dramatization of Margaret Deland's famous novel, "The Awakening of Helena Richie," a work that numbers its readers by the million. Miss Anglin has starred in this play for over a

A DOUBLE EVENT FOR NEXT WEEK!

Demonstration Week at Culley's Paducah's Great Tri-State Fair

Fall Styles
1910

FOLLOWING our usual custom, next week will be set aside at our store as Demonstration Week.

A week selected to display fall styles and present to the public the opportunity to investigate personally the difference in the goods found at our store and elsewhere.

There is character and distinctiveness attached to our clothing which places it in a class separate from other makes.

Visitors to the fair next week are invited to come to our store DEMONSTRATION WEEK, look carefully over our stock and compare our goods with that found in any other store.

In this visit there will be imposed no obligation to buy, but we simply want our friends to make this comparison for their own benefit.

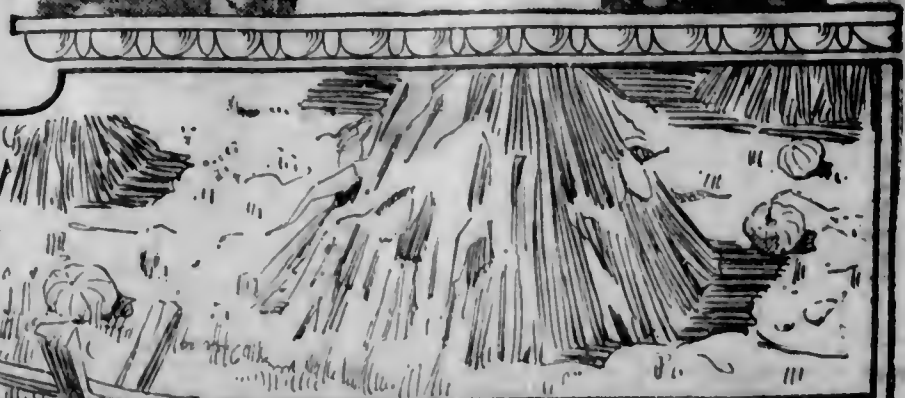

Prominent in this showing will be our foreign importations in confined patterns, both in clothing and furnishings.

Mothers will find our special showing in fall wearing apparel for boys both attractive and interesting. Do not fail to visit the Boys' and Children's Department next week.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22.

Daily Thought.

You must see life by the light of your own lamp.
Nobody can help you much.
—Mrs. Craigie.

Purpose dignifies labor.

Little hope for Octoberists of Tennessee.

The senior senator from Tennessee is not so much concerned just now with how Lorimer got his seat, as he is with how Jim Frazier is going to retain his.

What tricks fate plays! Henry Clay waited all his life for the lightning to strike him; and his statue has been struck twice in the cemetery at Lexington.

If Chairman Berry hadn't received any appeal from the action of the Third district senatorial committee, it is because Henry Lawrence is too busy writing an editorial on the meeting for this week's issue of the Cadiz Record.

Our local contemporary says President Taft wrote a letter to an Iowa man about federal patronage and then abused him for it. Of course, the fact that President Taft didn't write the letter, and the new columns of the same paper told who did, have nothing to do with the case.

The Chicago Tribune paragraphically states that it will avoid editorial mention of politics for 30 days. The Tribune, like some other insurgents, has lost itself in the fog of its own breath, and the 30 days can be well employed in finding out "just where it is at."

PLAYING TAG IN THE THIRD.

The issue presented to First District Committeeman W. A. Berry from the Third senatorial district committee, is whether or not Mr. Broadbent, of Trigg, had his fingers crossed when Chairman Chrisman, of Calloway, tagged him in the hotel at Murray, and whether Mr. Doom, of Lyon county, had cried "King's ex!" before Chrisman splashed him.

Upon such momentous considerations as this do sometimes depend the political affairs of a free people.

That Messrs. Broadbent and Doom melted through a doorway when they saw Mr. Chrisman enter, and that having splashed them, he said they were present, and pulling from his vestpocket the proxy of the member from Livingston county, he proposed motions in the name of the proxy, seconded them himself, put the question to himself and voted aye for himself and the proxy, are the facts upon which the contentions of both sides are predicated.

The question is not whether Broadbent and Doom were present; they were not. The question is whether the rules of the game were sufficiently complied with to afford the First district congressional committee an excuse to decide that the committee had called a convention to nominate a candidate for state senator, thus forcing Henry Lawrence to withdraw his candidacy or get off the state committee where he supports J. H. McCreary.

Nobody expects a political committee to consider the welfare of the wishes of the voters; but one is surprised when a committee disregards the interests of the party. It is supposed to serve. The Calloway committee split in the same manner, the congressional committee decided the question just as he will decide this one, and the county went Republican. Some people might say that politics require regeneration, when the interests of the people are neglected by the party organization; but when a committee becomes disloyal to the interests of the party, then it would seem that the depth of political perjury have, indeed, been reached.

GUILT IS PERSONAL.

We have been enamored of the idea of punishing the "man higher up". We are fascinated by a phrase. Yet the "man behind the gun" also has his responsibility, and in his case as in the case of the "man higher up" guilt is personal.

At Cairo Sunday a terrible wreck was occasioned by the carelessness of an operator. He has been held to the grand jury, which is right. In Indiana two interurban traction cars collided and forty people were killed. On the Illinois Central two freight trains collided in the night time, and a passenger engine ran into them, as the result of which a dozen

BLAMES WOMAN FOR ALL

New York, Sept. 22.—Not more resolutely did another young David go forth after his giant than David Graham Phillips goes after the American woman in his latest novel, "The Husband's Wife," which D. Appleton & Co. publish this week. Mr. Phillips thinks it is time to tell what he calls the truth about the American woman and believes it is his duty to destroy what he characterizes as the literary and journalistic fiction that has long represented her as a superior being. It takes Mr. Phillips nearly 500 pages to tell all he thinks about the American woman, and some of it is not fit to print. He nominates her for chief membership in the Ananias club, and accuses her of everything from doodlewit to bad cooking and curl papers.

Fails to Fill her Sphere.

As a woman's sphere, Mr. Phillips says it may be that "woman will some day develop another and higher sphere for herself. But first she would do well to learn to fill the sphere she now rattles around in like one dry pea in a ten-gallon can."

"Why are the savings bank account of our working classes a mere fraction of those of the working classes of other countries?" asks Mr. Phillips, and answers, "the American woman."

Why do more than 90 per cent of our small business men fail? Again the American woman.

"The American woman is hopeless," says Mr. Phillips. "Her vanity is triple-plated, copper-riveted men were injured, and one lost both his feet.

If somebody is to blame; somebody showed a lack of regard for the lives of his fellowmen; somebody is as guilty of inflicting the injury to that unfortunate man, who is permanently disabled if he does not die, as he is had deliberately shot into a crowd, or recklessly hurled a missile.

As our social life becomes more complex, our inter-dependence multiplies, and the responsibility of each individual increases accordingly. The city dweller is at the mercy of the dairyman, the butcher, the grocer and the baker. The rules of trade do not govern all the relations between these dealers and their customers. The dairyman, the butcher, the baker, the groceryman, cannot dismiss his moral obligation by saying my products are exposed to view, the customer may take them or leave them alone. His customers are compelled to take them.

The man, who works in the factory or on the railroad is at the mercy of the corporation, which employs him and is responsible for the environment within which he works, and the company must not say, the man can see for himself. If he doesn't like conditions he may go elsewhere. The man has to work, and his alternative is to go to the poor house.

The traveler on a railroad is at the mercy, not only of the railroad corporation, which is responsible for the conditions under which he rides, but at the mercy also of every individual employee of that system, who has any hand in the direction or management or condition of the equipment used in conveying the passengers.

Every car inspector, every round-house employee or shop employee, every trackman, every train man, owes an obligation personally and directly to every single passenger, who rides the trains, and he cannot avoid it.

He cannot dodge his responsibility by saying he is working for the railroad company and he gives it as good service as the wages justify. He is, indeed; but he owes a moral obligation to that passenger, who entrusts his life to the train, in the confidence that the employee has done his duty that is not indifferently fulfilled. The passenger and the employee need not know one another; they may never have been in the same state together, but the obligation of the one and the confidence reposed by the other are implied, when the employee enters on his employment and the passenger boards the train.

Men must be brought to regard this larger scope of their work, and they will be made larger men. Let each one remember he is working in the interest of his fellowmen, and his work will take on added dignity and value, and he will become dignified by his employment.

But, if men will disregard their orders, or recklessly expose the lives of others to dangers by their incapacity, by their bad habits which incapacitate them temporarily or permanently, by their incompetency or dislike of their employment, they deserve punishment commensurate with the consequences of their laches. The world has no use for irresponsible people. Our criminals we may reform; that class never.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Evening Sun.

Dear Sir—I was interested in a local news item in your columns recently, in which the need for a motor patrol and motor-cycle for the police department was convincingly set forth; but why leave out the fire department? Is not up-to-date equipment and economy of administration just as necessary there? I suggest that light motor-cycle be purchased for Fire Chief Wood. It would save the maintenance of a horse, and a small one, sufficient for short runs around the city, would be comparatively inexpensive.

Small, but Select.

Editor Sun.

Dear Sir—The morning papers seems concerned about the fact that only one representative from each precinct attended the Republican city committee meeting. I wish to say that if the Republican city convention doesn't attract a larger crowd than that small, but select party, which attended the Democratic city primary last month, I will consider the time ripe for a third party movement in Paducah.

BINGHAM CALLS

MILLER A TOOL

FUSION CANDIDATE FOR COURT OF APPEALS SPEAKS.

Specifies Gayety Theater Case As Evidence of Miller's Leniency.

POLITICS ON SUPREME BENCH

Louisville, Sept. 22.—In opening his campaign here, R. W. Bingham, fusion candidate for judge of the court of appeals said:

"For a full term this district has been represented in the court of appeals by Judge Henry S. Barker. His career upon the bench has won for him the confidence and respect of all good citizens, regardless of party affiliation. In his capacity as a judge he has risen above partisanship, and his course upon that great tribunal, the court of appeals, the court of last resort of this state, has been marked by honesty, by ability, by loyalty to the best traditions of that bench. As in Tennessee, he has been denied a renomination by the boss of this district."

"As in Tennessee, a substitute has been chosen by the boss and placed under the emblem of the Democratic party, and, as in Tennessee, the Republicans and Independent Democrats of this district have united to prevent the elevation to the court of appeals bench of this appointee of Whitten's political machine. As in Tennessee, party feeling and party loyalty of Democrats is being appealed to, and will be appealed to, in support of this so-called Democratic nominee."

"That, while he has the party emblem, but while he will come before the people in the guise of a Democratic nominee, I deny his claim to a Democratic nomination. I ask you what party action has been taken in connection with his nomination. I ask you what Democratic voters were given an opportunity to express their wishes or choice and I say to you, and to all the people of this district, that my opponent for the court of appeals bears no commission from the Democratic party of this district, nor from any political party."

"He has nothing except an order emanating from the Buckingham theater and signed by John H. Whitten. By what right and on what theory, then, can a candidate so selected, a mere appointee of a political boss, lay just claim to the loyalty, to the allegiance of any citizen, Democrat or Republican, who believes in the independence of the bench, who believes in freeing all judges, and above all, the judges of our supreme court, from partisan political influence, on what possible ground can any such citizen, Democrat or Republican, cast his vote for the great office of judge of the court of appeals for a man who owes his nomination to that office, not to the people, not to the party, but solely and only to the Buckingham boss?"

Unheard of Precedent.

"Do not forget that my opponent was elected circuit judge last November for a term of six years. He has more than five years of that term to serve. He draws the same salary here he would receive if elected judge of the court of appeals. Who ever heard of a political party, whether in a primary or convention, nominating a man for another office when he had just been elected to one office for a term of six years? Let me remind you, too, that he is holding on to the judgeship here while running for the court of appeals, so that if defeated for the court of appeals he will still have his office here. Why, then, did Whitten select him as his candidate for the court of appeals? There must be a reason behind this appointment. Do not imagine for one moment that partisan control of the bench will stop at merely political matters. It always and inevitably passes beyond these and invades the domain of property rights. One case, and one alone, I will cite you at this time, to show you how property rights may be affected by partisan judges."

The Gayety Theater.

"In the Gayety theater litigation, provoked by Whitten for the purpose of punishing his enemies and preventing competition in his vaudeville business, Judge Miller granted a restraining order against the board of aldermen to prevent them from considering an ordinance pending before them. This was in violation of the fundamental principle of our law, which makes the three branches of the government—judicial, executive and legislative, each independent of the other, within the legal limits described. The court had no more right to prevent the board of aldermen from considering an ordinance than the board of aldermen would have had to adopt an ordinance to prevent the court from acting as a judge."

"In the ten days in which the restraining order was in force, an immense amount of testimony was taken, attacking Whitten's enemies and opponents, business and political, every single syllable of which was incompetent, under the rules of evidence, and finally, to cap the climax of the whole proceedings, Judge Miller, sitting as chancellor filed in the record in that case, with his own hand, and made it a part of that record, an anonymous letter attacking Whitten's enemies and par-

porting, on its face, to relate a conversation overheard in a toilet-room in the state of Ohio. This, then, is the kind of service performed by Whitten's appointee for Whitten, and when you come to consider his qualifications for the court of appeals, I ask you to remember who nominated him, and then ask yourselves why he did it.

Independence of Bench.

"Upon the independence of the bench, upon its freedom from partisan control, depends the freedom, the security, the liberty of every citizen in this district. This question is one of vital importance to every man and woman in this city and country. I say to every Democrat that the question in this district is not one of free trade, but free elections. I say to every Republican in this district that this fight is not based on a question of protection for manufactured articles, but for protection for your civil right, your liberty."

"The Republican party in this district proclaimed its allegiance to the principle of a non-partisan judiciary in 1907 and in 1909 and 1910. There can be no such thing as an independent judiciary without fair and free elections, and the Republican party in this district in 1908 and 1909, and 1910, being in control of the city and county government, rigidly maintained the right of every citizen to a free ballot and a fair count, and delivered to the people of this district fair elections in 1908 and 1909. In the face of the grave dangers threatening this community by reason of the subjection of the Democratic organization to the Whitten machine, the Republicans of the district have again in their platform publicly proclaimed their loyalty to those two fundamental principles of popular government—free elections and a free judiciary—and I remind you again that you can never have one without the other."

Honor in Nomination.

"In furtherance of these principles, the Republican party in this district has offered to me, a life-long Democrat, the nomination for judge of the court of appeals, and I have accepted that nomination because I have always stood, and because I stand now, upon those principles, immovably and irrevocably. That in this crisis, the Republicans should have tendered this nomination to me, as they have unanimously and enthusiastically done, is a supreme honor. That I should have been chosen by the representatives of a great and historic party, with which I have never been affiliated, as representing principles which rise above the party, is an expression of confidence in me which this me with pride, inflexible determination to prove worthy of their trust."

Interesting Hunters' Exhibit.

Local hunters are now busily engaged in polishing things up, in eager preparation for the serious business of the year. That's why they will be keenly interested in the unique window display of hunting paraphernalia which Mr. August Thieling has prepared for Hank Bros., the largest dealers and jobbers in sporting goods in this section of the state. Mr. Thieling, who is one of their crack traveling men, had ample material to work with, for they buy their shells by the car load and immense quantities of guns, too. Winchester and Remington Pump and Automatic Shot Guns and Rifles are the heavy pieces of the display, and shells, cartridges and cleaning apparatus of various sorts are used for trimming.

The result is not only a work of art, but a splendid index to the low prices and immense stock of this popular house. Gun prices range from $3 to $25 for the best, and if you're a hunter you'll surely want to see the display. If you're merely interested in unique and ingenious window displays you will vote this the best you have seen in many a day.

The Foreigner Pays the Tariff. The officials of the treasury department a few days ago sent out through the Associated Press a statement to the effect that the Payne-Aldrich law had netted the greatest returns in customs that has been received by the department. That money, over which the treasury officials gloated, came out of the pocket of the German toy manufacturer, the Spanish under at Olive oil, the Russian fur house, the English linen and cotton producer, French wine presser, the South African diamond merchant and the Seman-binn ivory hunter. The whole world was told that a few trunks in this country might be enriched for beyond a legitimate profit. The Payne-Aldrich law may not be responsible for the shortage in the food supplies of foreign countries, yet it most certainly is responsible for the continental working man not having a greater sum of money to purchase food supplies. Where else did the big returns hoarded by the treasury officials come than from the dollar created abroad? Does turning seventy millions of dollars from the regular trade channel of the world into the pockets of a comparatively few people in America work no harm upon the men who exist upon the profits gleaned from that trade channel?—News Democrat

trict, no doubt, agrees that the publican counties to the district, was wrong on principle.Mark this. If Roosevelt beats the

THE THIRD STAGE IN RAILROAD

DEVELOPMENT.

The Sun has taken the position
long since that more important than reduction of freight rates and railroad fares is the matter of safety of travel, which can be insured only by the adoption of the block system, all the latest mechanical substitutes for fallible human memories and fingers
of overworked or careless employees;
double tracking, the abolishment of the grade crossing and the electrification of terminals. In the aggregate millions of dollars can be computed as the difference between one rate and other; but in their consequence to the individual shipper
they may represent the difference of a few cents or a few dollars in a year. The difference of one cent a mile in passenger fares amounts to the same thing, resolved down to the individual interest each traveler has
in the matter.Rates now are cheaper in this country than in Europe, but THE DANGER OF TRAVEL IS IN-FINITELY GREATER. There's the
rub. Of how much concern to the individual are a few cents or a few dollars, when his life is at stake?We have no less authority than that of W. L. Park, vice president of the Illinois Central system, to corroborate us, when he attributes the fearful loss of life by railroad accidents to inadequate facilities for the protection of human life. Making all due allowance for the human falling of selfishness, the Interstate commerce commission has well repaid us for its services by drawing
this acknowledgment from so eminent a source, and, whether rates
are reduced or not, if the commission succeeds in equalizing tariff rates, so as to do away with discrimination between points, and awakens the zeal of railroad managers in the adoption safeguards for the protection of human life, we shall be satisfied.Our troubles with common carriers today are due more to ignorance and laxity of the public and the government than to any monstrous
or abnormal physical or mental development of people engaged in railroading. They are of like nature with ourselves. In the days when we were eager to span the continent
with railroads, we made extraordinary concessions to railroad promoters, and gave away valuable lands
—there seemed no end to our possessions. Later, operating under these same concessions, the extensions abated, and then came a period of consolidation. That produced a Harriman and a Morgan.
The benefit of consolidation to shipper and traveler is immense;
but it was attained at the cost of railroad credit, the watering of stock
and the bonding of systems beyond their ability to pay. It was an extravagant, reckless, unnecessary wasting of vital credit; but it has been done. Now we are entering on a period of regulation and development of capacity and safety. If there are still extravagant methods employed in the conduct of the great systems, and waste, the commission will find it out and force the rail-roads to the proper fulfillment of their quasi-public function.
Economy and the public service
both dictate reform.

Recently a new order was mado
placing spreading eagles on the front of all the Illinois Central passenger locomotive, but at the time the higher officials never considered that their limitations of the feathered tribe would be denounced by the five birds. Several engineers have reported that while on their runs they would notice birds dart at the front of the engine. Usually they fall dead to the tracks. Finally it dawned upon one engineer that the birds were attracted by the gilt eagles on the engine and were attacking it.The public library almost went into competition with the public schools last week, when the army of school children returned to books.
Many youngsters as well as parents kept the library staff on the jump answering questions and giving directions how to reach the High school.
The applicants were seeking entrance
cards and were looking for the office of Superintendent J. A. Carnegie. As they walked out Broadway they thought the library was a school and when they read the stone letters,
"Carnegie Public Library," it required
a vigorous explanation sometimes to convince them that Professor Car-

two inches from the tip of each wing and 24 inches from the head to the tip of the tail, was killed yesterday
by W. M. Shaw, of Fountain avenue.
In company with J. R. Grogan and
W. B. Kennedy he saw the eagle soaring over the upper lake across the Ohio river. Taking aim he fired and killed the giant bird. The eagle is one of the largest ever seen around Paducah and had large claws.
Owing to the forest fires in the west
hunters say that a number of eagles
have been seen flying east, but Mr.
Shaw was the first hunter so fortunate as to bag one of the kings of the air.

Seeing Cairo a la Pollock.

The first person to greet Chief of Police Singery, City Jailer Clark,
Judge Cross, City Treasurer Walters
and County Judge Alben Barkley
when they stepped from the train at Cairo yesterday was A. Pollock, envivor of dozens of speeding cases in the Paducah police court and until
a few days ago a taxi of Paducah.
Pollock wanted to take the officials
for a spin immediately, but they declined until after the session of police court, which began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. After court Pollock was on hand with his "red flyer," which has hit many a high hump on the Paducah speedways,
and the invitation was accepted.
"Where is Cairo," said City Treasurer Walters, trying to find which way the town lay."Surely this is not all of it," said City Jailer Clark, peeping over the side of the machine as they chugged
along Ohio street. What Mr. Clark saw was hollows.
Finally the town was sighted and
the officials enjoyed a pleasant trip
over the streets. The main sight that attracted the attention of the Paducahans was the construction of Cairo's new depot. The sight-seeing trip ended an hour later without a penny out of the pockets of the officials.

INDEPENDENTS REPLY

Nashville, Sept. 23.—A ringing
address was issued by the Independent Democratic state executive committee, in which the issues of the pending campaign were clearly set forth in such a manner that no one could misunderstand what is actually at stake. This address was issued upon the order of the committee,
and was adopted unanimously at a meeting at which practically the entire membership was present in person or by proxy. The full text of the address follows:"To the Democracy of Tennessee:
We, the state Democratic executive committee, duly constituted and appointed by direct authority of the Democratic voters, expressed in accordance with established Democratic custom, deem it proper, at this time, to briefly review the political situation in Tennessee, to the end that Democrats coming from any source."The Democracy of Tennessee assembled in mass-meeting at the Auditorium in Nashville, Tenn., on the 14th day of May, 1910, and solemnly repudiated the authority of the Patterson political machine, which then claimed and still claims to be the regular state Democratic executive committee. That mass-meeting appointed a state Democratic executive committee which successfully conducted the judicial campaign, and which, after the August election was over, called the state Democratic convention that met at the Auditorium in Nashville on the 14th day of September, 1910."When that convention met it adopted a platform of principles, to which your attention is especially directed; it endorsed Capt. R. W.
Hooper for governor; nominated
Hon. B. A. Enloe for railroad commissioner, and appointed this committee to act as the state Democratic executive committee for the next two years. That convention referred to this committee for a reply, a communication transmitted to it by the Patterson machine committee. The said communication professed a desire for harmony, and suggested a plan of its own to secure the same.
The action of the convention in obeying the instructions of the people, as given in the respective counties, on September 5, was an eloquent and effective answer to said
communication, but the convention
evidently thought that this committee should review the matter, and give to the public the reasons for the course pursued. This renders necessary a brief review of recent political events."We contend that the title of the Patterson machine committee is founded in fraud, and that fraud vitiates everything it touches. This fund was committed and made effective two years ago, when 151 delegates elected by the Democrats of the Democratic state convention, and 151 delegates appointed by one man—Homerot Murray, attorney for the brewing interest at Chattanooga, were seated in the convention, in violation of the primary plan adopted by the state Democratic executive committee, which plan had been accepted, voted upon and ratified, by the Democratic voters of the state."By this action the right of self-government in the Democratic party
was usurped and Governor Patterson was enabled to write the party platform and to appoint the members of the state executive comit-tee of the board of curators of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro.
In speaking of the statehood for New Mexico he declared that it will be a great thing for the territory
and that the constitution which will be framed will be a good one. "The state is safely Republican," said Colonel Jones, "and the delegates to the constitutional convention are four to one or better Republicans. They are honor bound to make a good constitution, one that will be safe and sane in every way. I do not expect to see a lengthy document for the fundamental law of the state, but predict that it will be concise. I know that it will be nothing like the constitution of the state of Oklahoma." Colonel Jones had a week to spend leisurely and decided to come to Paducah. He wired his former law partner, George Oliver, who met him in St. Louis and accompanied Colonel Jones to Paducah. While in St. Paul at the national meeting Colonel Jones met Hon. C. C. Grissam, who was a state delegate from Kentucky. Since being in the city Colonel Jones has made many friends.PALMER HOUSE—W. F. Priest,

B. Abernathy, Trenton.tee. Acting through his machine,
he appointed 21 members to act as a state Democratic executive committee for his machine, 10 from the congressional districts and 11 from the machine. Thus the right to make the will of a majority of the Democrats of the state, was usurped, and the right to appoint a state Democratic executive committee was taken away from the Democratic party and vested in a political machine
created and controlled by Malcolm
R. Patterson.This machine-made committee, thus born in usurpation and conceived in fraud, was used by Governor Patterson in his attempt to coerce the supreme court in the Cooper case, and to secure the election of a legislature that would be subservient to his will."This same machine labeled him
as Democratic nominee for governor and stamped it full machine-made ticket "straight Democrats" for the ten highest judicial offices in the state, to be filed by the people in August. It also stamped candidates for United States senator, comptroller, treasurer and railroad commissioner."The masses of the Democratic party revolted against this attempt to control the Democratic party and govern the state by the exercise of arbitrary power."They proceeded to reorganize the party and they went to the polls and struck a crushing blow to the Patterson machine on the 4th of August."On the 26th day of August Governor Patterson gave out a defiant
announcement that he would remain in the race for governor until the polls closed in November, to victory
or defeat."There was no note of harmony
in that announcement, there were no signs of a flag of truce visible anywhere."The governor knew as well on the 5th day of August as he knew on the 10th day of September, when he announced his withdrawal, of the strength of the opposition to him in the Democratic party, and if he and his friends had wanted to make a sincere effort to bring the factions together and to unite the Democratic party, they had ample time before the meeting of the convention of September 14, and here-fore the governor withdrew from the race, to make an effort in that direction."Governor Patterson and his committee must have timed his withdrawal. No matter what time it was, the governor knew what he was doing, and he waited until the Democrats of the respective counties had appointed and instructed their delegates for his opponent, Mr. Hooper.
He knew that such action was contemplated and was well advised that such action would be taken, but he and his friends did not see proper to launch their harmony plan until they knew it could not be accepted, without placing the delegates of the convention of September 14 in the attitude of bolting their instructions,
and without subjecting the whole movement to the ridicule and contempt of all right-thinking people.
Governor Patterson and his friends knew on the 5th of August that he could not be elected governor of Tennessee in November. When they submitted their harmony plan on the day the convention was they knew it could not and would not be accepted. This does not have any appearance on its face of a movement
made in good faith to reunite the Democratic party, and to elect a Democratic governor, but it has every mark of a movement designed to create confusion and discord in the ranks of the Democratic party, in order to give the Patterson machine the opportunity above
all others, that it desires, to elect a legislature that would restore the saloon and re-establish its power in the politics of the state; a legislature that would repeal the election laws enacted two years ago, and thereby re-establish the power of the machine to count the votes and to control the results of elections
in this state, regardless of the will of a majority of the voters. It appears that this is the kind of harmony now being dished out by large dealers in sweetened wind, who never at any stage of this controversy stood with us in the fight to restore the rule of law and to preserve the right of self-government
by the people in this state."Our experience with Governor Patterson and his machine has taught us that we cannot take propositions or promises coming from that source for what they purport to be, but we must look for the purpose behind the fair sounding words.
"The people crushed the crown of the aching tooth "Pattersonism" in August, and they will pull the roots of it in November, disagreeable as the operation may be."The Patterson machine proposes to name another candidate for governor, leaving the balance of the ticket as made up by the machine.
They propose to make another platform when they thought the machine was all-powerful. In that they spoke their real sentiments. They cannot change it now without giving further proof of double dealing with the people."Their cry for harmony has not been sounded, so far as we know,
a single man who favors the temperance and election laws passed by the last legislature, and not one of the harmonious players, figuring in the public prints, will speak out now

with us and against Pattersonism on these issues. From this fact the people will know what weight they should give political advice coming from such sources. It is our observation that the people are better informed on the questions at issue than some of their voluntary advisers, and they will not be deceived or misled by anybody. Every voter will decide for himself upon a question of right and wrong in presence,
and that is the question in Tennessee."There is no politics in it, in the usual sense of the term, and when right prevails, as it must and will,
those who left their usual party
alignments to fight for the wrong,
and those who left their usual party
alignments to fight for the right,
may return to their usual party
alignments, but so long as the forces of evil stand united, so long will the best elements of the state stand together and uphold the majesty of the law and the standard of right."We are told that our position in endorsing Captain Hooper, a Republican, for governor, instead of nominating a member of our own party,
is unprecedented, but history is not written that way in Tennessee. The Democrats of Tennessee in 1869 refused to nominate a Democratic candidate for governor and gave their endorsement to Dewitt C. Senter, a Republican, who by their aid was elected governor. In 1872 the national Democratic convention which met in Baltimore refused to nominate a Democrat for president and nominated Horace Greeley, a Repub-lican and an abolitionist, and the Democrats of Tennessee elected the Greeley electoral ticket. The Democrats of Tennessee have always placed patriotism above partisanship
when the public welfare requires it.
Conditions in Tennessee are now more intolerable than they were when they endorsed Greeley and voted for him, and when we vote for Hooper we will vote for a clean, honest, able and upright citizen who
as governor of Tennessee will place patriotism above partisanship in the administration of his office."This address is issued by the unanimous action of the committee
at its meeting, September 20, 1910.

In mentioning the marriage of Mr. J. Walter Halley a popular Paducah boy who has made good in the south, the Alexandria (La.) Town Talk says: "The marriage of Miss Alma Mary Butler to Mr. James Walter Halley, of Paducah, Ky., was beautifully solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy A. Stanford, (Elfersville). To the sweet notes of the wedding march played by Mrs. N. K. Vance, the bridal party moved through the reception hall into the parlor, led by the ribbon bearers, Misses Shirley Staples, Betty Stafford, Mindeline Haynes and Bernice Palfrey, all daintily attired in white lingerie, followed by the bridesmaids and groomsmen, Miss Lucille Mouton, of Lafayette, and Jack Butler; Miss Annie Butler, of Natchitoches, and Mr. H. D. Tate, of New Orleans; Miss Ruby Halley, of Paducah, Ky., and Mr. Loula Wilson; Miss Beryl Stafford and Mr. Robert Halley, of Paducah, Ky. The maids were all beautifully attired in white lingerie gowns with sashes of palest yellow, and carried arm bouquets of yellow dahlias and fern tied with yellow tulle. The maid-of-honor, Miss Della Barrett, walked alone. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. L. A. Stanford, and was exquisitely gowned in a white lingerie robe over white satin made 'entraine.' She carried a shower of bouquet white roses. She wore as an ornament, the groom's gift, a handsome necklace of pearls and a single pearl brooch, a heirloom of the family. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Robert Chastaine, of Monroe, La. The Rev. Father L'ermann, of St. Francis Xavier's Catholic church, performed the ceremony. Mr. R. L. Randolph sang 'I Love You Truly.' The presents were numerous and costly, many coming from a great distance; telegrams were received the groom being prominently connected in railroad circles and having a host of friends in his native city, New Orleans, St. Louis and elsewhere. The couple left at midnight for New Orleans, where they will sail for New York and on an extended tour to eastern cities and on their return will reside in Lake Charles. The bride is a great-granddaughter of Governor Thomas Overton Moore, one of the early settlers, and a descendant on both sides of General Thomas Overton, of Revolutionary fame.

NEW RULES

LOTS OF TECHNICALITIES MUST BE MADE CLEAR.

Famous Yale Expert Says Forward Pass Can Be Made Behind Line of Scrimmage.

New York, Sept. 2.—The football season is open, but the new rules are still in process of adjustment. The intercollegiate rules committee, which formulated them, met and sat well into the evening, in an effort to reconcile their theories of last spring with the facts brought out by a summer experiment. Several points in doubt were cleared up, but others still remain.

The question of all forward pass penalties is still open. Many thought that under rule 18 as now worded a player may run any number of yards and then make a forward pass. Others thought not, and no decision was reached. Chairman Walter Camp held that the rule permits the player to make a forward pass behind the line of scrimmage. The matter was referred to the sub-committee.

The word "catch" in rule 18 was changed to "touch," so that the rule now reads: "Players of the side which puts the ball in play may not in any way interfere with their opponents until the ball has been touched by a player of either side, except," etc.

Coaches Are Mystified.

Rule 20 forbids a return kick of any sort, but Mr. Camp said the sub-committee would be asked to revoke it. Meanwhile the rule must be observed.

The language of rule 3 mystified some of the coaches and only half the mystery was solved. It was decided that a player removed for cause—that is, for infraction of the rules—may not be returned, but it was not settled whether a player removed for injuries may be returned if he recovers during the game.

In the original draft of the new rules the committee forgot to impose a penalty on the side whose guard receives the ball in a snuff-back, as forbidden by rule 4, section 5, which was aimed at mass plays. Chairman Camp said that a penalty of five yards would be imposed. With the exception of guards, any player may receive the ball after it has been put in play by any other player on his own side.

It was held that a runner with the ball who has fallen may not be helped to his feet, as such assistance would come under the word "pulling" in the clause of rule 16, forbidding pulling, pushing and holding. Whether a player is liable to penalty for putting his hands on other players of his own side was left to the sub-committee.

If the ball hits an official after it has been put in play, it was decided that the play must be repeated.

AT METROPOLIS

FIRST FOOTBALL BATTLE WILL TAKE PLACE.

Paducah High Will Cross River On Saturday to Play the Illinois Gridiron.

The 1933 gridiron season will be opened Saturday afternoon at Metropolis, Ill., when the High school eleven will line-up against the Metropolis High school team. The teams are old rivals and the game promises to be one worth the time. The new rules will be tried out, but the players on both teams have been drilled carefully, and a close score is expected.

The Paducah lads will leave tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock on the steamer Dick Fowler, and will return tomorrow night on the packet. A number of rooters will accompany the eleven to see the opening game. The High school boys will weigh about 140 pounds, but are quick and speedy. The Metropolis team is about even in weight.

This early in the season the Paducah team is not in mid-season form, but anticipate a victory to start the season. The team is handicapped by the fracture of a thumb by Ogilvie Wednesday in practice. Coach Hugh B. Craig with the assistance of Henry Cave, a former High school player, have secured quite a formidable lineup. Earl Browning is captain of the team. The team will line up: Nello Mitchell, le; R. Elliott, le; Jones, lg; Harth, c; King, rg; I. Browning, rt; Humphrey, rd; Pitman Harth, qb; Varbrough, rb; Ward Browning, left half, and George Hughes, full back. Accompanying the team will be: Coach Craig, Assistant Coach Cave, Prof. E. W. Brown, Henry Ogilvie and F. Browning. The first game in Paducah this season will be played with Metropolis High school October 1 at the park.

Tuberculosis Camp
In about 30 days it is expected to have the tuberculosis camp ready for patients. Despite the fact that they have been handicapped by many things, the officers of the association have worked nobly and steadily, and when it is opened the camp will be something the city may be proud of and will result in a great benefit to the citizens in the first stages of the disease.

At present the work of digging the well at the camp is progressing, and it will be necessary to install the water system before the camp can be opened. Pure water will be obtained from a well deep in the ground. The sanitary plumbing needs to be completed, but all of the details of the camp can be completed in a month. The furnishings for the camp have been purchased.

The location for the camp is considered ideal. The chief remedies used in treating victims of the white plague is sunlight, pure air and nourishing food. Jackson's hill will afford the patients plenty of sunlight while the attractive scenery makes the camp more interesting and an enjoyable place to recuperate.

DISEASE IS COMMUNICABLE.
New York State Will Quarantine Infants Paralyzed.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23.—A systematic study of infantile paralysis in this state is being made by State Health Commissioner Porter. He has been watching the prevalence of the disease and says he is fully satisfied that a number of cases exist in the state.

"While recent investigations," says a statement from the state health department today, "establish beyond a reasonable doubt that this is a communicable disease, it has not as yet been positively determined by what means it is transmitted from one person to another. Recognizing, however, its accepted transmissibility, the state health department has put it on the list of quarantinable diseases and now requires it to be reported and quarantined for a period of 21 days."

MINNIE ST. JOHN.
Infant died of Acute Kidney Trouble Last Night.

Minnie, the 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William St. John, of 1254 South Sixth street, died at 10 o'clock last night after a short illness of acute kidney trouble. The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence, the Rev. J. B. Pearson, pastor of the Third Street Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

HUNTING MOLES' SLAYER.
Deputy Sheriff Gover Clinton County With Bloodhounds.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 23.—Fifty deputy sheriffs, accompanied by bloodhounds from this city, are today tracking in the mountains of Clinton county in an attempt to find the assassin of D. C. Moles, a farmer, who was slain while on his way to court to testify as a prosecuting witness.

Probably the most disagreeable thing in the world is being caught.

Clergyman's Son's Testimonial of Tuberculosis Cure

To neglect a cold, bronchitis, lung trouble or consumption is dangerous. We all know how prone people are to deny they have consumption. It is a baffling disease, and the sufferer is a victim of the "hope of improvement." Cold consumption by its own dread name—and then take Eckman's Alternative, because it is effective in tuberculosis. No one need doubt about it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:

Amelia, N. Y., July 9, 1909.

Gentlemen: Prior to Feb. 1909, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with tuberculosis, which developed into tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats and mid-day chills and feeling very rapidly. Having come from 12 to 15 lbs. I coughed and raised continually and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home, my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alternative and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became cured and gradually diminished and in a few days I developed an appetite. The first in months, I am now in perfect health, back to 125 lbs. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alternative.

A member of the faculty of a New England university tells of a freshman who was asked by one of the professors whether he had proved a certain proposition in Euclid.

"Well, sir," responded the freshman. "I proved it is a strong word. But I will say that I have rendered it highly probable."—Harper's Magazine.

SOUR STOMACH

"I used Cascarets and feel like a new man. I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia and sour stomach for the last two years. I have been taking medicine and other drugs, but could find no relief for a short time. I will recommend Cascarets to my friends as the only thing for indigestion and sour stomach and to keep the bowels in good condition. They are very nice to eat."

ADJ. GENERAL

MAKES REPLY

SAVES MEDICAL SUPPLIES WERE ON WRECKED TRAIN.

Critics of Kentucky Troops Are Constantly Answered in Letters Received.

NO REGULAR HOSPITAL CORPS.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 22.—Adjutant General P. P. Johnston, of Kentucky, has issued a statement that, in no uncertain terms, responds to certain charges which have been brought against those in command of the Kentucky State Guard since the brigade has been at the regular army maneuvers at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and especially with reference to the alleged lack of military medical supplies accompanying the First or Louisville regiment, at the time of the train wreck at Indianapolis, while that regiment was en route to the maneuvers last week.

Gen. Johnston goes into details to show that nine chests of medical supplies were sent to the Indiana camp, and that the entire medical equipment allotted to Kentucky was, in fact, on the train that was wrecked, but very probably was contained in one of the wrecked cars on the train.

As to the publication that the adjutant general had refused to issue mounts to the medical men of the Kentucky brigade, Gen. Johnston says the statement is "garrulous and utterly untrue." The publication that the government had been recommended not to pay the Kentucky troops, he declares "an invention, like so many others." The statement of the adjutant general of Kentucky follows:

Statement of Johnston.

"After an absence from the state of nearly two weeks, during which time most of the preparations for the encampment were made, I returned, and on September 7 called on Major Van Meter, at his office in Lexington, and told him that the medical department would be under his general control, as ranking surgeon, and directed him to send Capt. Redmon to the arsenal to take an inventory of the medical and surgical supplies on hand and report to him, and for him to indicate to me in writing such of them as would be needed for our troops going to the maneuvers at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Capt. Redmon made the inspection and directed the arsenal keeper to send nine chests and three packages of bedding, eight litter and eight hospital emergency pouches. (These last were in a separate box and were marked 'hospital pouches'.) He said he thought this was enough.

"Major Van Meter wrote the next day directing that the medical supplies, as designated by Capt. L. C. Redmon, be shipped to the brigade quartermaster at Fort Benjamin Harrison. This letter reached me Friday, the 9th, and the supplies were shipped on the 11th. They were, I am informed, on the wrecked train. Major Van Meter also directed other supplies to be issued to the surgeon. This was not done, as they were included in those ordered shipped to Fort Benjamin Harrison. The department directed Major Van Meter by S. O. No. 127, dated September 10, 1910, to 'purchase such medicines or bandages as might be actually necessary for the sick or injured soldiers while in camp.'

"The fact that there was, or was not, sufficient medical supplies in the nine chests and other packages shipped for the troops, was not in the knowledge of those who have been most voluble in making statements on the subject.

Surgeon's Position.

"Unless the ranking surgeon had considered them nearly sufficient, he would, I suppose, have called for greater additions to them than he did and they, doubtless, would have met every demand but for the accident and the fact that they were in one of the cars of the wrecked train and were, I suppose, badly damaged, though I have no reports from the medical officers on the subject.

"It has also been extensively published, without any effort that I am aware of to ascertain the truth or falsity of the statement, that when the medical men attached to the Kentucky outfit were asked by Col. Mans, chief medical officer of the department of the lakes, as to where their horses were, he received the reply that 'they had none, Gen. P. P. Johnston, adjutant general of Kentucky, having refused to issue mounts to the medical men of the Kentucky brigade.' The statement that I refused to issue mounts was gratuitous and utterly untrue.

Hospital Corps.

"It is true that there was no hospital corps with the Kentucky troops. The records show that it has been a long time since we have had a hospital corps that met the requirements of the law. It has been the recent policy of the adjutant general's department to muster out organizations that failed to maintain standards entitling them to existence. Under the rule the hospital organizations were mustered out.

"The Dick bill imposes no obligation.

SURPRISES RHEUMATICS

Persons who are stiffened and sore with Rheumatism find very quick relief in a few doses of the new Burdock Globes treatment and are usually surprised, to find that it not only takes out the soreness and soothes the pain, but limbers up the stiffened joints and limbs in a remarkably short time.

The phenomenal sale it is having seems to indicate that it is doing the work, and druggists say they have never seen anything like it. An offer to give back the money to anyone who is not perfectly satisfied with the result of the treatment, is made by Gilbert's Drug Store.

It Did Wonders

For That Tired Feeling

"I am getting along fine, and feel splendid, since taking Cardui," writes Mrs. Stella Halquist, of La Porte, Minn. "I used to have backache, headache, and that tired-out feeling. I had other troubles, too, and dragging sensations, but they have almost disappeared now. I cannot praise Cardui enough, for it has done wonders for me."

If you are weak and ailing, feel tired all the time, or experience any of the troubles to which women are peculiarly liable, you can rely on Cardui being of benefit. Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect, on the female constitution. No other medicine or tonic has exactly the same results as Cardui. No other has the record of 50 years of successful treatment, of cases of female weakness.

The principal ingredient of Cardui is imported direct from Europe, by us, and is of superior efficacy in the treatment of womanly ailments. Cardui is not like other medicines. It is different. It does the work.

Cardui has helped over a million women, and thousands have written letters full of enthusiastic praise for what Cardui has done for them.

It is certainly worth trying.

Why not test it for yourself? It will mean a great deal for you, if it cures you.

CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderful beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time remedy. This preparation is sold for all first-class druggists for 50c, and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

government, or any responsible party will be frankly met; but a campaign of covert slander, finding simultaneous expression in so many papers, looks like organized infamy. Men do not keep step in that character of dirty work without some leading spirit to call, 'hey-foot, straw-foot.' Perhaps the inspiration can be uncovered.

Army System.

"Army authorities are well aware that the system that makes the regular soldier is not the best that can be devised for the militia men. One devotes all of his time to his military duties; the other only a small portion of the time left over from business, rest and recreation.

"As a rule, the militiaman works for a living, and devotes every business hour to that duty, only leaving time for military work absolutely essential to fit him for active service.

"It is obvious that the rules to be observed in making the civilian a soldier, while he remains a civilian, should harmonize with his duties, both as citizen and soldier. Instead, we are trying to mold him to a system devised to use the entire time of the regular, who has no care or responsibility for self-support, nothing to conflict with his military duties. Of course, these are difficulties, respectively.

"PHILIP P. JOHNSTON."

Mrs. Jacob Wilmet, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. A few weeks ago I got Foley's Kidney Pills and gave them a fair trial. They gave me great relief, so continued till now I am again in perfect health." Gilbert's drug store.

CAPTAIN HOOPER FLAGS PATTERSON

OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN IN EAST TENNESSEE.

Says He Will Uphold Present Laws
—Appeals to the People.

BEST ELEMENT BOTH PARTIES

Mountain City, Tenn., Sept. 22.— Capt. Ben W. Hooper, nominated for governor by the Republicans and invited by the anti-Patterson Democrats, opened his campaign here. He was heard by a large audience, including most of the members of the company which he commanded in the Spanish-American war.

Captain Hooper discussed the issues of the campaign. He began by declaring that there is no bar-tain between the Republicans and independent Democrats, but that the best elements of the two parties
have been forced together temporarily
to meet the grave emergency.

He said that laws have been rampled under foot, that the governor has proclaimed that certain laws cannot be enforced; that de-clations of the court have been reverted with contempt; that attempts were made to coerce the supreme court into rendering a decision politically advantageous to the governor. He discussed the pardon record of Governor Patterson and showed that 1,102 convicts have been pardoned during the three and half years Patterson has been governor. He compared these figures with those of other states.

and showed that, on a basis of population, there have been 25 times as many pardons issued in Tennessee as elsewhere in the country.
He said that a pardon industry has been established and that applications for pardons are successfully made only by men who belong to the machine.

In discussing the election which was passed over Patterson's vote, he said that this law passed by the votes of both Democrats and Republicans, made it impossible for the governor to make good his threat
against the judges of the higher courts.

Hooper's Speech.

Hooper spoke in part as follows:
For the first time, I am the lonesome candidate, playing a game of political solitaire, but the Pattersonites have called a convention for October 6, and will then attempt to find a victim to bear the burdens of the machine. The question they are up against seems to be whether it is best to appoint an old part of the machine as the head, or to seek a new member—a new cog, to be incorporated for the purpose.
Whether a new part be added or an old one oiled and rubbed off, the result will be the same old machine will be put in action. It will be a distinction without a difference. Any man they can use now, they could use after he might be elected. But if it became so evident to the machine that the people would not eat
the devil, it will likewise be made manifest in November that they will not drink his broth.

That plank in the republican platform which sounded the keynote of this contest is the one demanding
the enforcement of the laws and condemning the use of the pardoning power of the governor. So far as the temperance legislation on our statute books is concerned, there has been a deliberate, systematic and powerful effort to bring it into discredit and disrepute. In order that the original opponents of this legislation might be able to exclaim,
"I told you so." There may be room for an honest difference of opinion
as to whether the anti-saloon laws can be successfully enforced. In a few of the larger cities of this state,
but there can be no serious contention that an honest effort has yet been made to enforce them.

As a matter of course, the governor has not pardoned every man convicted of violating the temperance law, but I venture the assertion that every man who has violated
these laws has done so with the belief that the governor's pardon
would ultimately stand between him and punishment. This has been a powerful influence against the observance and enforcement of these laws. It has gone a long way toward the complete nullification of them.

This influence has been exerted not only in those cities where the governor says these laws cannot be enforced, but also in those rural communities where an honest effort is being made to enforce them. It is but fair to say that the governor is not the only public official who has sought to discredit these laws by non-enforcement, but some local officials influenced, perhaps by his example, have pursued a similar course. There has been a powerful organization, financial and political actively engaged in fighting the enforcement of these laws, with the intention of demanding their repeal or modification on the ground of the impossibility of their enforcement.
This adds anarchy to bootlegging
and renders a still more incubent
upon the officers of the law to stand firmly for the enforcement of these laws so long as they remain on our statute books.

The modesty of Governor Patterson's demand in his platform for the repeal of the four-mile laws so far as it applies to Nashville, Memphis, Chattanooga and La Pollette is not in good faith. It is not wanted. Gov.
Patterson and his machine, if they had their way, would repeal the four-mile law in its entirety and reopen the grog shops at every cross roads in Tennessee.

Governor Patterson, in speaking of his pardon record, says: "My record for pardons has been larger than usual," which is a somewhat mild statement of a very patent fact.

Pardon Brokerage.

It is easy for the governor to mention instances of executive clemency
that appeal strongly to human pity.
He tells us of pardons he has given to the young, to those maimed in the mines and to those wrecked by tuberculosis and other diseases.
Many of these men were, no doubt,
worthy of clemency, for the patho-
logic reasons mentioned by the governor, and any other chief executive would have granted it to them. But the charge against the governor that he has abused the pardoning power,
and has made it a political asset for himself and a financial one for his machine, is not based upon the granting of the comparatively small number of pardons in the classes
just referred to. It is a fact recognized by every thinking man in this state and by the press and people of the nation at large that we have a new, but well-established, industry
in this state known as the "pardon industry." How else can we account for the tremendous disproportion between the number of pardons granted
in Tennessee, and in any of her sister states?

Gov. Patterson has been governor since January, 1907. During that time he has issued pardons as follows:

Murder	171
Illegal liquor selling	125
Carrying weapons	205
Larceny	157
Miscellaneous crimes	444
Miscellaneous crimes	144

Total number

The average annual number of pardons therefore in Tennessee under Patterson is 318 as against 69
in six other states having five times
the population of Tennessee. The rate of pardons to population is 25 times as high in Tennessee as in the six states named.

These figures have shocked not only Tennessee, but the world. They have given us a record abroad for lawlessness and disorder, that has heaped shame and disgrace on our heads and deterred outside immigration and capital from coming among us. There is nothing fanciful in this statement. Every business man knows what advertising is worth, and Tennessee has been widely and unfavorably advertised in almost every daily and weekly paper in the United States for the last two years.
No man can ever estimate the enormous damage that the Patterson administration has done to our state
in this way. And yet, this material injury is insignificant compared with the moral injury that we have ensured here at home, due to the prevalent disregard for the law.

The governor's political family,
he says of his machine, constitute
a well-organized pardon brokerage system. It is well understood all over this state that the man who wants a pardon must get up as large a fee as he can, and employ one of the governor's political pardon brokers to present his case. There may be numerous attorneys in this state competent and convenient to do his work, but they are not possessed of the requisite "pull";
they do not belong to the machine.
We have therefore seen the friends
of an applicant for executive clemency
seek and employ counsel in the very opposite end of the state, and that for the sole reason that such counsel was known to stand next to the throne. In many instances, the fee paid is so out of proportion to the service rendered that a considerable part of the amount must necessarily represent compensation for the "pull" rather than for legal service. This is very simple and sure way of furnishing grease for the
machine.

The platform upon which my candidacy rests condemns the abuse of the pardoning power. When I am elected governor, I will faithfully abide by this utterance. Executive clemency shall be more sparingly
and carefully extended. It shall not be given as a political favor and no man anywhere in this state shall set himself up as a pardon broker to write exorbitant fees from the unfortunate friends of convicted men.
I shall not constitute myself a tribunal of our state. When it becomes well understood, as it soon will, that the pardoning power is to be administered along these lines,

the battle for law enforcement will be half won.

Election Laws.

The Patterson machine is very severe in its denunciation of the election law enacted by the last legislature, and they certainly have good reasons for feeling outraged. The passage of that law rang the death
knell of the machine, not because it is unfair to them, but because it deprives the governor of his absolute control of the people's elections, that power which "no good governor wants, and no bad governor ought to have."

The wisdom, justice and efficacy of that statute were thoroughly demonstrated in the recent August election.
To have gone up against the governor's election machinery would have been marching through a slaughter house to the open grave. And yet he independent judiciary won by 15,000 majority, and no one has been heard to claim that the election was not clean, honest and fair.

If honest elections result in making the Republican party a strong minority party, so much the better for the people, and even for the Democratic party itself. The existence of a strong, vigorous and militant minority party is essential to good government in a republic like ours.
It puts the majority party on its metal and forces it to put forward
the best men and to administer public affairs with fidelity to the people's rights.

His Platform.

I am in hearty accord with the declaration in favor of the fellow servants' bill.

That plank in our platform which puts forward the idea of using a part of our state convicts to build or resist in building a great public highway from Bristol to Memphis is by no means a visionary or impracticable idea. Such a road would be a great artery of trade and travel, and would encourage the building and improvement of hundreds of lateral or tributary roads. It would be worth more to the people than the building of a new railroad from one end of the state to the other. In the location of such a road, advantage could be taken of pike roads already built by counties, which could be made a part of the state highway.

Some of the counties might be glad to co-operate with the state and share the work and expense of building the road, and still further public road building could be done
after the completion of this great state road. The use of the state convicts in the building of public highways has been satisfactorily adopted
in several states. The state of Georgia, it is said, is now working 4,500
convicts on the roads. Such a use of the convicts would relieve the coal mining industry and the free labor engaged in it from the ruinous competition, to which they are now subjected by the state mines. It is evidently unjust that one industry is to bear all the burden of competition
with convict labor.

That provision in our platform which favors a law providing for the rigid inspection of state banks is in line with the best modern banking and business principles. This law would be good for the banks as well as the public, as it would increase the confidence of the public and consequently the business of the banks.

That clause in our platform which declares that the next legislature should redistribute the state into legislative, judicial and congressional districts, in total disregard of the political complexion of the county or district is morally correct, but I fear that it is too Utopian ever to be fully realized. I do believe, however, that with the present temper of the better elements of all parties, the redistriction can and will be done with substantial justice, and a great improvement wrought over the present notoriously unfair conditions.

The adherents of the Patterson machine have been throwing fits, in-terpersed with spasms, about an alleged "deal" between Republicans and independents to redistribute the state in such a way as to make the legislature Republican. I happen to know that there is not a syllable of truth in that alarming story. Both platforms call for a fair apportionment, and this open and public declaration for fairness and honesty is the only agreement extant.

I heartily approve of that declaration in our platform in favor of confiscating liberal appropriations for the Confederate soldiers of the state and endowing the present method of redeeming the state pension board by the Confederate bounties. The same provision was in our platform two years ago, and is now the settled policy of the Republican party of Tennessee.

In this connection I am reminded of an awful charge that is brought up against my legislative record, namely,
that I voted to put a privilege tax on breachers. This is really too absurd to notice, but it was published with such cold earnestness that I will refer to it with apologies. Some good brother in the legislature offered an amendment to a revenue bill to put a privilege tax on lawyers, doctors, dentists, etc., a tax which the supreme court had previously decided was unconstitutional. Just to demonstrate the absurdity of his proposition, I offered to amend it by adding preachers, blacksmiths, shoemak-ers, county officials and most everybody else I could think of on the spur of the moment. Of course, both amendments were promptly tabled,
and my vote helped to do it.

And they say, too, that while I voted for the age of consent law,
I expressed the fear that the age had been fixed too high. Very true, I did admit about that matter, but I gave the law the benefit of the doubt,
and voted for it. I am glad I did.
The age was very properly made higher.

In digging around in my legislative record my adversaries have lambasted me with the fact that I was one of the first men who ever introduced a bill to extend the four-mile law so as to give its benefits to the smaller incorporated towns. This was long before this measure had become a band-wagon proposition. And I mention this matter merely to show that my espousal of this cause was not of recent date nor was it a matter of political expediency.

If I am elected governor of Tennessee, there will be strong reasons
why I shall feel free from extreme factional and partisan influences. In the appointment of officials than any man who has ever held that office, I shall not permit the official patronage of the office to be used to build up any faction within my own party, nor shall I make use of it to build up a personal or party machine.

The management of our public schools and our charitable institutions should be absolutely free from partisan bias. There are not many of us who inquire into the politics
of the man who teaches our children.

EXONERATION

SCOTT FERGUSON'S CHARACTER
IS CLEARED.

Showed That Bartender Had No Connection With Crime in Calro Saloon.

Scott Ferguson, the bartender and well known Democratic politician, released in Calro on a bond of $500,
was exonerated yesterday at his trial
in Calro by Judge Whitcomb. His Paducah friends rallied to his aid,
and by showing evidence of his good reputation, he was exonerated of the charge. Ferguson was bartender in a saloon where a saloonkeeper from Kaukahee, Ill., alleged he was robbed, and Ferguson was arrested with several others, who were in the saloon. Hon. Hal Dorsett represented
Mr. Ferguson. Evidence of his good reputation was introduced by Police Judge Dave Cross, City Treasurer
George Walters, City Auditor James Clark, Chief of Police Singery and
A. C. Mitchell, agent for the Frank Fehr brewery. It was also shown that Ferguson led the Democratic ticket last year for constableman. With such evidence of his good reputation
before him, Judge Whitcomb promptly dismissed the case.

lentlessly that they have to lie to circumvent their income.

"Mr. Gormly," said Haldane at last, "my son has told me that you have discovered my connection with the Gotham Freight Traction company."

"I told him so this afternoon."

"Why did you tell him?"

"To give him an opportunity to withdraw from his association with me before I published the story of the corrupt corporation, and because I have a sort of chivalrous, old-fashioned feeling that compels me to warn you of what I am going to do before I do it."

"Mr. Gormly," said Haldane, "you this day addressed my daughter and asked her to be your wife?"

"I did, sir."

"Why today?"

"Because I intended all along to do so, and I preferred to do it now rather than after the publication of the news that will be made tomorrow. I shall repeat my offer tomorrow."

"And you wish to marry her?"

"It is—it was—the dearest wish of my heart."

"Was, sir?"

"Yes, and so far as I am individually concerned it still remains so; but there are things higher than our own personal wishes, Mr. Haldane, as I have been finding out, and to be mayor of New York for the purpose of serving the people is now my chief ambition."

"But you love my daughter, I understand her to say."

"She could not possibly say how much I care for her, or how proud I should be to make her my wife."

"Mr. Gormly," said Haldane, lowering his voice and looking about him, "it is not beyond possibility that your desires in that direction might be gratified."

"Do you carry a message to me from Miss Haldane?"

"No, not exactly. She, however, placed the matter in my hands. I have your letter here," he drew it forth. "And, in short, it is possible that she might be induced to favor your suit. Of course," he added very slowly in a mere whisper, during which he kept his eyes carefully averted from the other man's face, "you will understand that if you were a party to this—er—revelation to which you have alluded, that would render any alliance impossible."

"You say," asked Gormly slowly, "that Miss Haldane is not privy to your decision, that you do not make this proposition by her authority?"

"Certainly not. She knows nothing about it; but I am sure that with my wish and your own determined and—er—most agreeable personality, the matter can be brought about," he paused, significantly—"on conditions."

"What conditions?"

"I leave that to your own perspicacity."

"By the living God!" burst out Gormly, furiously throwing off all restraint in his indignation and resentment. "If I treated you rightly, I would kick you out of the house. I would expose you not merely for your connection with that thieving octopus, but as a father who tried to barter his daughter to secure his own immunity."

"Sir, sir!" exclaimed Haldane furiously, but Gormly was not to be interrupted now.

"I love your daughter in ways that I doubt you are able to understand; but I would not take her on such conditions as those you mean me to infer; I would not degrade her by thinking of her on such terms, even if I lost her forever. I am unworthy of her now, God knows! but I would be so far beneath her under such circumstances that I could not even look at her again. I don't understand how she could have been born of such a father."

"I will not be talked to in that manner by you, sir," cried Haldane, who did not lack courage. "I here and now definitely decline your proposal for my daughter's hand."

"I will take that declaration from her, and from no one else!" said Gormly.

"She will repeat it, I am sure, if she hears with what insolence you have treated me."

"And I pray God for the sake of her soul toward you and her respect to ward you that she may never hear one word of what you have said. I have had enough of this interview, Mr. Haldane."

He turned to the door.

"Wait!" said Haldane.

"To hear another infamous proposition from you?"

"No, sir. But I have something more to say, and it is this: You are not so invulnerable yourself, sir, but that you might be glad for a little judicious silence."

"What do you mean?"

"Never mind what I mean. You publish what you have there at your peril! I warn you that in two days thereafter, your name will ring as a scoundrel and a blackguard throughout the United States."

"Having tried bribery and failed you now resort to threats," said Gormly. "But that you are her father—"

He clenched his fist, stood staring a minute, then shrugged his shoulders and shook his head and turned away.

DOUBLE TRACKS ARE PROPOSED FOR THE LOUISVILLE DIVISION OF THE I. C.

Vice-President Park Admits That Fearful Cost of Life on Railroads is Due to Lack of Proper Safeguards.

Double tracks on the Louisville division of the Illinois Central system are in prospect. In his testimony before the Interstate Commerce commission, W. L. Park, vice-president and head of the railroad, said the Illinois Central should expend between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 at once in the mechanical department in order to bring it up to standard.

Mr. Park also asserted that the fearful record his railroad and others are making in the matter of killed and injured is due largely to the fact that they lack money with which to provide block signals and other safety devices. The Illinois Central, for example, should spend $5,000,000 on block signals, and he said it would do so if the revenue it was permitted to earn gave it sufficient money.

"You won't be warned, then?" said Haldane.

"Not by you."

"And you intend to publish my connection?"

"Everywhere."

"I shall tell Eleanor that you have done it."

"I shall tell her myself," returned Gormly, tearing open the door. "Haldane," he called, as he stepped into the hall. When the young man presented himself, he thus addressed him: "Your father and I have had a rather painful interview. Into the details of which it is not necessary to enter. I have only to say that the story I told you goes to the newspapers tonight. And now," he held out his hand, "goodby. I wish that we might have fought together until the end."

"But we are going to fight together until the end," cried the young man fiercely. "I love my father, and until now I have always respected him. I have been content to follow his lead; but I can do so no longer."

"You will both of you live to regret it," cried old Haldane after a bitter look at the pair. With his head high he marched out through the door. "Do your worst!" he said ere he closed it behind him. "You will see what will happen to you in a day or two!"

"What does it mean?" asked Miss Stewart.

"It means," said Livingstone, "that my father is tangled up with a gang of scoundrels; that he is the brain and backbone of the Gotham Freight Traction company that we are fighting; and that he is in close alliance with the Sachem society. It means that we—my family and I—are dishonored. It means that I no longer have the right to ask you what I had intended to ask you when the campaign was over and we had won, to be my wife."

"Are you asking me now?" cried Miss Stewart ecstatically.

"I would be if it was proper."

"It is proper," she said, blushing divinely.

"You don't mean—"

"You goose!" said the girl. "I don't love your father or your family."

Here Gormly turned and went into the drawing room again. When he came back, which he did not do until summoned by Miss Stewart herself, he confronted the blushing pair.

"You could not have chosen a truer, better man than Mr. Haldane," he said. "And as for you, Haldane, you are the luckiest man on earth."

He sighed with envy and regret as he spoke.

"I want to do something for you now," said young Haldane.

"Well, there is one thing you can do for me."

"What is that?"

"I want to see your sister, and immediately."

"I will have her here in ten minutes," answered the young man, tearing himself away from Miss Stewart without another word.

Physicians Are Naturally Prejudiced against proprietary or advertised medicines, as the sale of these remedies increases their incomes.

However, this may be, the general public is benefited by the use of such standard medicines as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, with its wonderful record of thousands of cures among suffering women. We are very glad to say, however, that there are hundreds of honest physicians in the United States who do not hesitate to recommend such medicines.

DO YOUR WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

When on the subject of the money needed by his railroad for betterments, Mr. Park was asked to enumerate some of the improvements that had been deferred during the past year on account of a decreasing net revenue. He replied: "Among our deferred improvements is a second track on the Louisville division, where forty-three miles has been laid, and some double track work on other divisions that has been abandoned for the present. There is also a large amount of grade revision work that has been deferred and depot facilities at Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis, New Orleans and in many smaller towns. For example, the citizens of Chicago desire the Illinois Central to build a station at Monroe street, and we would be glad to do so, but it would cost $100,000, and we do not see our way clear to make the improvement. In addition to these things, the mechanical department requires new roundhouse facilities and additional terminal facilities at important points. Then, too, there are many of our important yards that need improvements, and we need additional yards at important points. There is between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 that really ought to be spent in this sort of improvements at this time, but which have been deferred indefinitely on account of lack of funds."

Should Hold Surplus.

Mr. Park also stated that in his opinion a railroad company, like a bank, should have a respectable surplus to protect its stockholders against lean years. For the Illinois Central such surplus ought to be between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. As showing how the property had been kept up he stated that during the last ten years fully $30,000,000 had been spent in grade reclamation and $47,000,000 for equipment.

A Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC.

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us from trouble and we are never without it in the house. ON LARGE SCALE

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY WILL WORK HEREAFTER.

Winter Season Was Started by Meeting At Woman's Club Last Night.

Plans for work on a larger scale were outlined last night by the McCracken County Medical society, which met at the Woman's club in adjourned session from last week. Last night marked the beginning of the winter sessions to be held at the club building.

Vice President H. G. Reynolds, presided over the meeting, having assumed the presidency since the departure of the president, Dr. H. P. Sights, now of Hopkinsville. An interesting resume of his visit to the Mayo Brothers' clinic at Rochester, Minn., was given by Dr. P. H. Stewart and a discussion of the work was held. The medical society is growing and Dr. Dela Caldwell, secretary, reported that the present membership was 50 physicians of the city and county. Beginning Wednesday, September 28, meetings will be held every two weeks this winter. Drs. H. P. Linn, H. M. Childress and Vernon Hlythe will be the lecturers at the next meeting.

Drs. Frank Boyd and H. M. Childress, who were chosen delegates to the annual meeting of the State Medical association, will attend. The meeting will be held in Lexington, Ky., September 27, 28 and 29.

When Merit Wins.

When the medicine you take cures your disease, tones up your system and makes you feel better, stronger and more vigorous than before, that is what Foley's Kidney Pills do for you. In all cases of headache, ache, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness and general weakness that is caused by any disorder of the kidneys or bladder Gilbert's drug store.

CHAPTER XIV.

Gormly Resists His Greatest Temptation.

Gormly had faced many difficult situations in his life. Even his successful business career had confronted him with crises of moment. But he had never contemplated anything which imposed so hard a task upon his judgment and his feelings as the approaching interview. What means young Haldane would take to induce his sister to come with him, how much of what had transpired he would tell her, Gormly had no means of knowing; of course, he felt confident that by hook or crook the young woman would be produced, and that a few minutes would find him face to face with her.

He did not in the least know how to begin or what to say, and the more he thought of it the more difficult became the situation. It was well that the time for reflection was short. It is better for a man who has to do great things to do them before the mental and spiritual enemy has time to instill doubts into the mind. And it was with a feeling of relief in his growing apprehension and misery, therefore, that he heard the front door open. He heard voices that he knew in the hall, and in another moment the library door was opened and Miss Haldane entered the room alone. He had risen on her approach and stood confronting her. She was evidently greatly surprised.

"I did not know you were here," she began. "Livingstone did not tell me. I did not expect—"

"It was to see me, or rather that I might see you, that you were brought here, and I alone am responsible."

"It is a most extraordinary proceeding," said the girl nervously. "I can't imagine why I was brought to you."

"It was necessary for me to see you," returned the man.

"Then why didn't you come to my room?"

"I could not."

"Why not?"

"There are reasons which will probably render me forever an unwelcome visitor to your house."

"I believe," said the girl slowly, "that something very serious must have happened, or you would not have had me brought here."

"I can scarcely hear to tell you."

"You alarm me beyond measure!" cried the girl, pressing her hands to her breast as if to still its wild throbbing. "You must not keep me in suspense any longer! What is it that you have to tell me? What is it that is likely to come between us?"

"This," responded Gormly, handing her a few typewritten sheets of paper. "Am I to read this?" she asked, taking it.

"And This Is Why You Made Me That Offer of Marriage?"

king it from him and looking very straight at him.

He was very pale now and she was scarcely less white.

"Wait!" said the man, as she lifted the paper and bent her head. "Perhaps it would be more merciful to tell you."

"Just as you think best. I am a strong woman. What I hear anything. Is it about?" there was a long pause—"my father?"

He nodded his head.

"What has he done?"

"Miss Haldane," he began, "I say to you quite simply that I would rather he dead than stand here as I do now with the burden of telling you that your father is the head and front, the backbone, the brains, the genius, the everything, of the Gotham Freight company and the Schem society."

"My God!" exclaimed Miss Haldane, the paper dropping from her fingers to the floor.

She was paler than ever. She stared at him almost in dumb incomprehension. Her body averted slightly. Gormly stepped closer to her, seized her gently, supported her to a chair by the library table. She put her face in her hands and rocked to and fro silently.

"It can't be true," she said at last. "You are mistaken. Surely not my father in that sink of corruption and hribery and iniquity and shame! Say it isn't true!"

"I wish to heaven I could say it; but—" The man shook his head. "I told you that I would rather have been dead than have brought this upon you."

"You are not to blame," answered the woman, her sense of justice uppermost. "It is the fact itself that kills. If it be a fact. There must be some mistake."

"I wish there was."

"Are you sure absolutely?"

"Your father confessed it here in this room a half hour ago."

"Why do you tell me of it?"

"Because," was the answer, "the whole world has to know it, and I preferred to tell you myself rather than let you get it from the newspapers."

"You are going to publish it?"

"Tomorrow morning."

"But why—why?"

She threw up her arms in nervous appeal.

"Think," said the man, "it is the one fact that makes my election certain."

"And does your ambition run to the wrecking of my father's good name in order that you may be elected?"

"No. If you will think, you will know that it does not. I am doing it for the sake of honor, for the sake of duty, for the sake of humanity. 'So help me God!' he cried with upturned face."

"But is it necessary?"

"Absolutely."

"Why?"

"The cause of popular government is being fought out right here. The contest transcends in importance any political battle that has even been waged. If the government of and for and by the people is to be a success, we have to demonstrate it now or else go down. It may be forever. The people have a right to know what is back of the Schem society, where it gets its enormous corruption fund. I should be a traitor, false to my duty as a citizen, if I did not make public this knowledge that has come to me."

"It is all true," she said at last. "You say my father was here?"

"Yes."

"He was very much agitated at some news that my brother brought him a short time ago. Does Livingstone know?"

"He does. I told him."

"Why?"

"To give him an opportunity to withdraw from association with us in view of this attack."

"And what did he decide?"

"He decided to stay with me."

"And this is why you made me that offer of carriage now rather than later?"

"Yes. I wanted you to feel, after you had this news, that while I alone knew it, I paid you the highest compliment that I could think of; that my heart was irrevocably pledged to you whatever was to happen."

WAR ON LEWIS BY WESTERN MINERS

INSURGENT SUPPORTERS PRE-DICT BIG VICTORY.

Opposition Candidate Aims to Restore Harmony in Ranks of the Union.

DECIDING VOTE IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Opposition to Thomas J. Lewis as president of the United Mine Workers has crystallized to the point where the anti-Lewis faction formally has announced its slate for the coming election December 13.

In a circular letter issued, John P. White, president of the Iowa district, announced his candidacy for the presidency against Lewis. William Green, former president of the Ohio district, who drafted the substitute report at the miners' special convention in Indianapolis last month, which wrested control of the convention from Lewis, is the candidate for secretary-treasurer. Frank J. Hayes, present vice president, a bitter enemy of Lewis, is on the opposition slate for re-election, and an active campaign will be started at once.

Harmony His Object.

In his letter to the membership White announces that he will refrain from abuse and slander, and that his only object in becoming a candidate is the hope that harmony may be restored in the ranks of the organization.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois miners, will open the campaign for White in Illinois at once, licensee of the attempt of Lewis to force a compromise settlement on the miners in this state. It is believed he will lose the support which he always has received in the past from the Illinois men.

It has been the vote of the Illinois miners that has elected Lewis for the last two years and his opponents say it will be the Illinois vote that will accomplish his defeat at the coming election.

Friends of White predict that he will receive a majority of 40,000 votes in Illinois and Iowa and that with the opposition to Lewis in the southwest district and in some portions of the east, there is little doubt that the Iowa man will be elected.

BARDWELL.

T. N. Holt recently purchased the Robert A. Davis farm, east of Arlington, and now he owns probably the largest body of land in Carlisle county.

The announcement is made by J. W. Wray, the tobacco man, that he will buy tobacco at Bardwell again this year, and that he expects to be in the field early. A representative from a Louisville house was here Monday and closed a deal with Mr. Wray whereby the former will be represented locally by the latter. A three year lease was taken on the building that has heretofore been used as a tobacco storage house, and an addition of 40 feet is to be made in order to give more space for storing.

At the reorganization of the Carlisle county committee of the tobacco association, John M. Mabry was re-elected chairman of the county.

PERMANENT BOARD FOR THE TRAFFIC

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION WILL START AGITATION.

Will Go to Work in a Scientific Way and Equalize All the Duties.

COST OF ALL NECESSITIES

Washington, Sept. 23.—Plans are announced here of a campaign to be conducted by the National Tariff Commission association to have congress enact legislation which will make of the tariff board a permanent body to be affiliated as a bureau with the treasury department.

Henry R. Towne of New York, treasurer and director of the National Tariff Commission association, after a conference with Chairman Emory and members of the tariff board, issued a statement endorsing the work of the board in its effort to secure reliable information upon which to base tariff schedules, and emphasizing the desire of manufacturers to co-operate with the board in its work or to procure legislation which will assure its continuance.

The first of a series of conferences which will start the tariff board actually on its work of making a scientific revision of the tariff, schedule by schedule, will take place tomorrow when a meeting with the executive committee of the Chemical Manufacturing association will be held. That organization embraces about 45 companies and practically represents the industry in this country.

Call Chemists' Meeting. Henry Howard, of Boston, a member of the executive committee of the chemists' organization, came to Washington today. Mr. Howard had a short conference with Chairman Emory of the tariff board, and then called an informal meeting of his committee. It is understood

Prof. Emory gave to Mr. Howard an idea of what the board expects from the chemists in the way of assistance in getting statistics of the cost of manufacture and that Mr. Howard called a meeting of the committee to decide whether the industry is prepared to give it. The attitude of the manufacturers toward the board will develop more fully at the meeting tomorrow. Both sides expressed it today as friendly.

The conference will be followed by meetings with representatives of the manufacturers of wood pulp, woolen textiles, iron and steel and probably the metal men. From the results of those conferences the board expects to know just where it stands in beginning its work. The members of the board view the situation which confronts them this way:

Equalize Tariffs.

One set of industries may consider themselves insufficiently protected by the tariff and be anxious to co-operate with the board to get what they think is due them.

Another set may feel they are sufficiently protected and may furnish such information as would tend to preserve their present conditions.

Still another set, however, which may be over-protected by the present law may either oppose the board openly or appear to be friendly and really hamper the experts in their work.

Individually the members of the board are not alarmed at the various announcements that it will be a hard matter to get information on the cost of manufacture from the corporations. They think the board has facilities for getting what it wants.

When the board has finished with the chemists, it will have some talks with interests of the woolen industry, the iron and steel men, the wood pulp manufacturers and probably the metal men. Those schedules have been marked for first attention.

The National Tariff Commission association, which advocates the permanency of the board, is an organization which grew out of the tariff conferences at Indianapolis in 1909. It is composed of delegates from all parts of the United States. Mr. Towne stated that it had undertaken to obtain from all congressmen and candidates for congress, pledges to support the permanent tariff commission idea. State conventions also are being urged to include in their platforms planks endorsing such a proposition.

"The present tariff board," said Mr. Towne, "has the indorsement of manufacturers throughout the country. Its methods of obtaining information upon which to base the tariff legislation are reliable and accurate, and its work should become a fixture on the government."

"Congress appropriated for the work of this board this year $250,000, but has made no provision for the permanency of the board. That is the result to be accomplished, and it is our purpose to procure, through the agency of our affiliated bodies throughout the country, pledges from congressmen of all parties and candidates for congress in support of the tariff commission idea."

News of Theatres

The Morris Vaudeville.

Just before the opening of the regular season at the Kentucky Paducah theatre will be treated to their first offering of high-class vaudeville. Beginning Monday with the change of bill the last three days of the week, the Kentucky will present a show engaged through the Morris Vaudeville circuit, one of the strongest booking dates through the west.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night, with matinee on Monday at 2:30 and two shows in the evening, beginning at 7:30 and 9:15, respectively, the bill will be Keifer and Klein, singing and dancing duo; La Monte, Cockatons, a novelty bird act; Statuwell, the trapeze wizard; Pearl Stevens, singing comedienne, with pictures and illustrated songs.

The last of the week will present, with matinee Thursday afternoon and two night performances, Doudas and (Bob), Mabel DeBue, Mrs. Peter Mother and Penderloe, also with new pictures and illustrated songs.

It will be observed that these bills are well balanced, presenting a variety, including every character of performance presented in vaudeville houses. Soubrette, singing and dancing, acrobats, comedy and trained animals, besides the pictures, which are always popular.

On Saturday, matinee and night, "The Girl from the U. S. A." musical comedy, comes to the Kentucky.

Tuesday night Clara Lipman appears in the "Marriage of a Star" and Wednesday night Margaret Anglin appears in "The Awakening of Anna Richard."

At the Star, Manager Desberger, of the Star, feels justly proud in outdoing his self this week with his vaudeville bill.

Millan and Dutois, singing and dancing people, who are topknots, open the bill. Max and Rodriquez, Spanish singers and dancers, who have been the hit all over the country, are featured which Manager Desberger admits he was lucky in booking. Frank Long sings the picture songs and a new picture show each day completes the bill for the rest of this week.

New G. A. B. Club, Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 23.—John R. Gilman, of Boston, was elected commander-in-chief of the club for the coming year. John M. Eero, of Washington, D. C., the only other aspirant, withdrew his name before the balloting began.

Miss Frances Lynn, 723 Madison street, who was injured in a runaway accident several days ago, is improving rapidly.
